PARIS TO SEND COUNTER DEBT PLAN

PROVISIONAL ACCORD FINDS LITTLE FAVOR

New Proposal On Settlement Of War Obligation Being Prepared At The French Capital And Expected To Be Forwarded To U. S. Next Week.

PARIS, Oct. 21. — (By the Associated Press.) — The French government is preparing a counter proposal on the debt question which will probably be sent to Washington next week.

The provisional accord brought back from Washington by Finance Minister Caillaux and his delegation was so unfavorably received in parliamentary circles that it is felt preferable to renew negotiations for a final agreement with the United States rather than submit the provisional plan to the senate and chamber.

The American counter proposal which M. Caillaux took back with him to Paris called for payment of annual installments of $40,000,000 for the next five years as full current interest during that period on the consolidated debt of about $4,200,000,000 owed to the United States government by France.

Washington Not Surprised.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(I. N. S.)—No great surprise was occasioned here by the announcement in Paris that the French government shortly will submit a new offer for funding its $4,000,000,000 war debt.

Joseph Caillaux told members of the American debt commission before leaving here several weeks ago that the five year agreement would either be accepted or negotiations for a permanent settlement renewed and he apparently has chosen the latter alternative.

It was reiterated by commission members, however, that it will avail M. Caillaux little to submit a new offer that is not considerable in advance of the best offer he made in Washington.

Backed By Bankers.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. — (I. N. S.)—American bankers are in complete accord with the desire of the administration to deny loans to foreign governments which have not made final arrangements to fund war debts to the United States, Charles E. Mitchell, president of the National City bank of New York, declared after a conference with President Coolidge today.

Mitchell directed his remarks particularly at France.

The five year agreement carried back in Paris by Joseph Caillaux, French finance minister, "settled nothing and determined nothing," said Mitchell.

"Funding of the French debt on a permanent basis is essential to the return of French finances to a healthy condition," declared Mitchell.

"Until France has made a settlement and determined upon definite payments, it will be impossible to measure the French budget with a yard stick and unstable financial conditions will prevail."

Extension of private credits to France, Mitchell predicated would prove injurious even to France until her war debts are settled.

SUCCESSOR OF RALSTON NAMED

Indiana Governor Appoints Arthur R. Robinson United States Senator.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. Oct. 21. —(By the Associated Press.)— Arthur R. Robinson, Indianapolis attorney, last night was appointed United States senator from Indiana to succeed the late Samuel M. Ralston.

Mr. Robinson, republican, was named by Gov. Ed. Jackson to serve until the state elections in November, 1925, when a senator will be elected to serve the remainder of Mr. Ralston's term, which would have expired March 3, 1929.

Wholehearted support of the administration of President Coolidge was an influential factor in Robinson's choice. In a statement made public following the appointment, Robinson pledged his allegiance to the national administration and this was echoed in the governor's announcement.

Pathfinders May Affiliate With Optimist Clubs

Voting on affiliating with the national organization of Optimist clubs started Wednesday noon at the luncheon of the Pathfinder club following a discussion which took up the greater part of the session. Members not at the meeting have three days in which to deposit their vote and the count will be announced at the meeting of the club next Wednesday at the chamber of commerce. The club met at the Grand hotel.

Preceding the discussion Homer Compton sang a group of selections. Will Hart was at the piano. Alex Anderson of Chicago spoke on the benefits of a Community Chest to a city.

Fremont Has Big Building Program For Coming Year

(Special to The Star.)

FREMONT, Neb., Oct. 21.—Larger construction jobs are in sight for Fremont builders next year. Plans for a new canning factory, for the girls' dormitory at Midland college, for two new business blocks and a large new milk station, all to be erected in 1925, give a rosey hue to the prospects for that yera. The new Elks club building, costing $50,000, is another project that is nearly assured.

This year the building was given over largely to residences and over 100 have been erected or got under way. It is generally assumed among contractors that residence building next year will be limited.

Realtors to Attend State Convention

The Lincoln Real Estate board met Wednesday noon at the chamber of commerce and made arrangements to attend the state convention at Grand Island, November 5 and 6. A bus will be chartered and the Lincoln Realtors make the trip in a body. R. E. Harrington, F. J. Hyatt and John Lonam were named as a committee to take charge of the trip. The meeting was the first held by the board since July. The several divisions resume their sessions November 1.

College View "Oil" Discovery Blasted By Chemists' Report

Citizens of College View were treated to all the thrills that go with the discovery of oil in territory where its existence had not been suspected; but the excitement died down when it developed that there was no basis for it except leakage of gasoline from some underground storage tank into an old abandoned well back of H. J. Marrow's home at 203 West Eleventh street.

When news of the "oil discovery" became noised around, crowds of people thronged to the Marrow premises. Real estate dealers began to think bout buyinga up options on neighboring property and sinking wells to tap the precious fluid.

Louis Truex obtained samples of the liquid, which had a pronounced gasoline smell, and brought them in to the state food, drug and oil laboratory. They were tested and found to be real gasoline, though it was mixed with water and dirt.

Before leaving College View, Mr. Truex had taken the precaution to put a padlock on the pumps over the well so that nobody could extract its contents while he was absent.

Tank Leakage is Theory.

Prof. Schramm of the state university geological department pricked the bubble of the incipent oil boom and brought the College View folks down to earth, when the mater was brought to his attention, by saying that there have been a number of such incidents in Nebraska, where people thought they had struck oil but had really found nothing but gasoline seepage from some place where it was stored in a leaky reservoir.

There is a filling station just across the street from the Marrow residence at College View, but the proprietor claims he has tested the contents of his tanks and has lost no gasoline by leakage. The fluit might have come a long distance however, according to Prof.

GUZVIC FACES MURDER TRIAL

Life-Termer at Penitentiary Bound Over to District Court For Mail Clerk's Death In Attempted Outbreak.

PRELIMINARY HELD WEDNESDAY MORNING

Prisoner Intercedes For Self Once As Turnkey Huff Testifies Saw Him Behind Brown and Smith.

Joe Guzvic, already under life sentence for murder, was bound over Wednesday morning for trial in district court on a charge of first degree murder for the death of Clarence E. Morse, prison mail clerk, who was shot and killed in the attempt by Fred Brown and Roy Smith to break out of the state penitentiary September 28.

During Guzvic's preliminary hearing held before Judge E. B. Chappell in municipal court at 9:15 a. m., Wednesday, the prisoner sat between John T. Boyd and Warden Fenton on the first row of gallery seats. Behind him was a crowd of spectators who filled all the available seats and stood, many of them in the aisles.

Guzvic had no lawyer to represent him at the preliminary hearing, and did not take the witness stand for himself. Only once did he intercede for himself in the procedure of the hearing. When Maurice Huff, inside turnkey who shot Roy Smith and frustrated the attempt to blast out the cage gate at the prison, testified that he saw Guzvic enter the chapel behind Brown and Smith, Guzvic put a question to the witness:

"Did you see me come in with Smith, and Brown—right with them?"

"Yes," replied Huff, "Right behind Brown."

Guzvic, who had stood to ask the question, sat down again.

Turnkey Gives Testimony.

Huff, who was the third and last witness placed on the stand by the state at the preliminary hearing, testified that on Monday, September 28, at about 3 p. m., he was on duty as inside turnkey at the prison. The south door of the chapel, the west door and the east door of the chapel were in his charge, he stated. Smith, followed by Brown and Guzvic, entered through the south door into the chapel behind two prisoners carrying rocking chairs which obstructed Huff's view into the prison yard, the turnkey testified. Smith, who had a gun, ordered him to back out of the way, Huff said.

Smith and Brown went west towards Deputy Warden Kavanaugh's office while Guzvic went straight for the cage gate leading into the next room, Huff said. In reply to a question by County Attorney Matson, Huff said that the rules require all prisoners not trusties who enter the chapel to have passes issued by the warden.

Dr. B. A. Finkle, prison physician, opened a small labeled box and produced a .45 calibre steel-jacketed bullet which he testified he had removed from the left side of Clarence E. Morse, the slain guard. Dr. Finkle wrote on the death certificate that death resulted directly from a hemorrhage of the lungs due to a gunshot wound, he testified. The bullet entered the right side and passed through the body, lodging just under the skin, near the last rib on the left side, the physician stated.

SHARP NOTE TO BULGARIA

Greece Demands Satisfaction For "Unwarranted Attack" On Its Frontier Post Near Demirhissar — Ultimatum Possible.

ATHENS, Oct. 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—A note couched in severe terms was forwarded today to Sofia, the Bulgarian capital, demanding full satisfaction for Monday's "unwarranted attack" on a Greek frontier post near Demirhissar. The note demands satisfaction for the violation of Greek territory, punishment of those responsible and compensation for the families of the officers and soldiers killed.

In the event the Greek demands are not promptly accepted, an ultimatum probably will be sent to the Bulgarian government.

Although the attack, which was followed by nearly twenty-four hours of fighting, seemed to have engineered by comitadjis or irregular bands, it is reported here to have been carried out by regular Bulgarian troops.

The Sofia government, it is understood, has proposed the formation of a mixed commission of Greek and Bulgarian officers to investigate the incident on the spot.

Grabs Child From Beneath Engine Wheel

BEAVER CITY, Neb., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Unable to stop the train in time, Fireman Sutton on the Burlington passenger train No. 190, sprang from the cab to the pilot of the engine to grab a 2-year-old child from beneath the wheel of the engine here this afternoon.

The child, badly bruised and with several bones broken, was placed on the train and rushed to Orleans for treatment.

The child had wandered on the track with a dog, when the dog returned without the child, Charles Kisser, a farmer, became uneasy and as a result of inquiries learned that it was his child. The parents rushed to Orleans by automobile.

NEW TAX CUT IDEAS OFFERED

Varied Forms Of Relief Sought By Several Organized Interests Whose Representatives Appear Before Ways and Means Committee.

DRAFTING OF BILL TO START NOVEMBER 2

Treasury Now Definitely Recommends Repeal Of Provision Allowing 25 Per Cent Reduction In Tax On Earned Incomes Up To $10,000.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—Varied forms of tax relief were sought by a number of organized interests through representatives appearing at today's session of hearings before the house ways and means committee on a new revenue bill.

Nine organizations were allotted time today by the committee, which will hear all parties interested in the proposed tax reduction measure before starting work a week from Monday on the drafting of the bill.

The treasury, meanwhile, has definitely included in its suggestions for tax reform the repeal of the provision of the present law allowing a 25 per cent reduction in the tax on earned incomes up to $10,000. This was presented in a new schedule of normal tax rates transmitted by the treasury to the

Liner Captain Is Slain While On His Vessel

LONDON, Oct. 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—Capt. A. H. Clew, commander of the liner Melita, belonging to the Canadian Pacific Steamship, Ltd., was shot and killed aboard ship at Antwerp last night, a message to the company today reported. One of the ship's officers is alleged to be the slayer.

Two of the Melita's officers were wounded, David Kennedy Gilmour of Glasgow, assistant chief engineer, and John Holliday of Bootle, Eng., junior second engineer.

The cause of the shooting is not yet known.

Schulte Explains Football Rules to Elks at Dinner

Coach Henry Schulte of the University of Nebraska was the principal speaker at the first weekly dinner of the season to be given by Lincoln Elks. He spoke on the rules of football, explaining many involved points and going to some extent into the origin and history of the game. He answered numerous questions from his audience about the rules. Assistant Coach "Bill" Day followed Schulte, speaking and answering questions along similar lines.

The attendance at the dinner was unusually large and an orchestra furnished music during the meal. Vocal solos were given by Miss Ellington, accompanied by Miss Jenkins, and vocal numbers and a vaudeville skit by the Baybach twins, entertaining this week over KFAB.

Exalted Ruler R. O. Hodgman presided.

Farmers Building Houses Of Brick

(Special to The Star.)

DILLER, Neb., Oct. 21.—Farmers in this vicinity are building more brick homes on their farms that in former years, according to report. George Ackman, and J. F. Ratzlaff, north of here near Pansen, have each completed brick houses. They state that the brick is about as cheap as lumber at the present prices and a lot better. Both of the houses are seven rooms or larger.

JARDINE ASKS FARMERS TO LOOK AHEAD

Agriculture Secretary Points To Increasing Foreign Competition In Advising Caution In Seeding For Next Year's Wheat Harvest.

EXPLAINS RELATIVE HIGH PRICES NOW

Asserts All Wheat In 1926 May Be Upon Export Basis And Forced To Meet Competition In Other Countries Without Tariff Protection.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. — (By the Associated Press.)—Pointing to increasing foreign competition in the wheat market, Secretary Jardine, in a statement today told American farmers that they "may wisely look beyond this year while seeding or preparing to seed for next year's wheat harvest."

"From intentions expressed by the farmers it appears that the prices for wheat at the beginning of the season were causing them to plan to increase the area seeded," the secretary said. "It is mainly, however, a partial crop failure which has reduced the production of many classes of wheat below domestic needs, and which, together with the tariff, has caused farmers to receive prices somewhat better than at the beginning of the season last year.

"It seems probable that the market has already completely discounted all the hearish factors in the wheat situation for this year.

Points To Competition.

"As stated in the outlook report issued by the department in September, if farmers carry out expressed intentions to plant more wheat and realize normal yields, all wheat next year may be upon an export basis and have to meet competition in foreign markets without tariff protection.

Foreign competition is increasing. In Europe the countries that were affected by the war are recovering. The area sown to all grain in Russia is estimated to be 194,000,000 acres, compared with 186,000,000 acres last year and 126,000,000 acres in 1921. This shows a marked recovery since 1921. The area in wheat is not separately reported, but is apparent that it must be recovering rapidly and that large Russian exports may soon have to be reckoned with.

"In the meantime, competition in other exporting countries has increased enormously. The wheat area of Australia, Argentina and Canada is now more than 50 per cent above the pre-war average. These facts should be carefully considered by farmers in planning for wheat production in this country."

WHITZEL GETS ANOTHER TERM

Prisoner Who Joined Simmons In Attempt to Escape From Prison Last July Draws 1 to 10 Year Sentence.

Fred Whitzel pleaded guilty before Judge J. H. Broady in District court Wednesday morning to attempting to escape from the Nebraska penitentiary on July 16 and was sentenced to from one to ten years in the same prison, his term to begin at the expiration of the one he is now serving. This is the second time he has received additional sentence since being received at the prison on account of acts of insubordination.

On July 16, the day that the plan of Simmons for a commutation of sentence had been denied, the last named prisoner, who has since been executed, together with Donald Ringer, Henry Bartlett and Whitzel made a desperate attempt to escape. Ringer is under sentence of death for the murder of Carl Moore, a Hastings automobile salesman; Bartlett is now being tried at Minden for the murder of Chief of Police Asa Ransom of that place, while Whitzel was originally sent up from Falls City to serve for from one to ten years for burglary.

Whitzel has been regarded as one of the most desperate men in the prison. His attempted escape on July 16 was his second one since his incarceration, and it was also charged that he was the leader in the plot to start a mutiny a couple of years ago when machines were smashed and other disorders engaged in.

The attempt for which he has just been sentenced occurred at about 830 in the evening as the men were about to be locked in their cells. The four in the plot rushed the guards wounding and injuring two of them, "Billy" Glennon and H. A. Tiehen, before they were covered with guns and forced back into their cells.

The injuries of the two guards did not prove serious.

NOMINATE NEW CLUB OFFICERS

Mrs. Minier Expected to Be Next President of Women's Clubs.

Convention Rejects Proposal to Change Form Of Nominating Officers.

(Special to The Star.)

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb., Oct. 21. —Lincoln will probably get the next convention of the Nebraska Federation of Women's clubs, it was understood Wednesday. Lincoln's invitation was extended by Mrs. E. L. Marty, president of the Lincoln club.

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb., Oct. 21.—(A. P.)—The number of registered and visiting delegates to the thirtieth annual convention of the Nebraska Federation of Women's clubs increased to nearly 400 with the opening of the second day's session Wednesday.

The nominating committee of which Mrs. R. M. Thomson, president of the Ravenna Woman's club, is chairman, made its report at the afternoon as follows:

"For president, Mrs. Will E. Minier, Oakland; Mrs. S. P. Cresap, Nebraska City; vice president, J. G. Ackerman, Ainsworth; Mrs. M. J. Jennings, Harvard; recording secretary Mrs. O. M. Jones, Omaha; Mrs. W. W. Barnes, Peru; treasurer, Mrs. L. O. Robinson, Lincoln and Mrs. J. E. Humphreys, Chadron.

Although the presidential boom has favored Mrs. Minier friends of Mrs. Cresap have made it clear that they will wage a fight for their candidate.

Mrs. Paul Perryman of Broken Bow, president of the state federation was the only candidate nominated for the office of general federation director.

The meeting of the board of directors last night Lincoln was the only extending an invitation for the 1926 convention. The bid was made by Mrs. E. L. Marty of that city. It is understood, however, that Hastings delegates tomorrow will ask that the convention be held in that city.

The convention Tuesday voted to abolish the office of the state federation auditor and place the bookkeeping of the organization in the hands of an accountant who is to be selected by the board of directors. Mrs. H. P. Cresap, of Nebraska City, has been the auditor during the past year. She has performed her duties in an orderly and

TRIAL IS MARKED BY ANTAGONISM

Many Witnesses To Be Called In Bartlett Hearing at Minden.

Additional Talesmen To Be Called In Effort To Obtain Jury.

(Special to The Star.)

MINDEN, Neb., Oct. 21. — Throughout the proceedings of the trial at Minden of Henry Bartlett, charged with the first degree murder of Asa Ransom, Minden chief of police, there hangs an atmosphere of antagonism between Bartlett and Sealing, who is also charged with the murder.

When the double pointed dagger was found in Bartlett's possession on his arrival in Minden for trial there was a subtle feeling that it was intended for Sealing had the two been confined together.

Sealing made a written confession at the time of his arrest implicating his friend Bartlett. When the two were brought together in Grand Island for the first time after their arrest and Sealing's confession, Bartlett is quoted as saying to Sealing after a keen glance:

"This is a Chinese puzzle to me; I hope it is to you."

It is clear from the defense subpoenas of witnesses that Bartlett and his attorneys are preparing to launch a barrage against Sealing's confession and all testimony connected with it.

The defendant has subpoenaed Sheriff Kargo to bring with him to the trial the X-ray pictures and films claimed to have been taken at Grand Island when Bartlett was arrested and also any and all written statements or confessions made by Sealing; State Sheriff Condit to testify on behalf of the defense and to bring with him all written statements of Sealing which he has, and also the car in which it is claimed that Bartlett was riding at the time of the shooting, and Milton Gates, deputy, to bring with him all papers or written statements in his possession connecting Bartlett with the crime.

Forty-seven witnesses are endorsed on the information. The present jury panel now under examination includes 23 farmers or retired farmers and one carpenter. Of these three live in Minden and the others are scattered over the county.

The sheriff has been ordered to summon 32 additional talesmen.

MAY CALL AN EXTRA SESSION TEXAS SOLONS

Speaker Of Lower House Proposes Summoning Together Of Legislators To Investigate Charges Of Reckless Expenditures Of State Funds.

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—A special session of the Texas legislature may be called to investigate charges of reckless expenditures in the state highway department under the regime of Governor "Ma" Ferguson.

In a statement from Washington last night, where he is on a tax reducing mission, Lee Satterwhite, speaker of the Texas house of representatives, declared that if the governor did not call a special session for an investigation of the state administration, he would.

In breaking a two months' official silence last Saturday, Governor Ferguson declared against a special session and challenged the malcontents to take their "whisperings" before a grand jury, thus saving the taxpayers the enormous expense of a special legislature.

The woman executive, wife of former Gov. James E. Ferguson, recently charged with dominating the state highway commission, declared that she would summarily remove any state official proved in default of duty.

Await Result of Probe.

Meanwhile, the state is awaiting the result of a probe already being conducted by Attorney General Dan Moody, who is checking up the highway department's transactions. Speaker Satterwhite intimated that his special session would await the attorney general's report, which is expected within three wseks.

Speaker Satterwhite's avowed determination to call a special session without gubernatorial concurrence, however, apparently will be flying in the faces of a maority of members of the legislature. A poll conducted by The Associated Press among members to determine their sentiments on the proposed call has shown thus far 42 against the proposition, 16 for and 10 undecided.

In response to the query, State Representative Ben F. Foster expressed the opinion that "only the governor can call a special session of the legislature, except in case of impeachment proceedings against her."

No Hint of Impeachment.

There has been no hint of possible impeachment proceedings and it is a matter of conjecture here whether Speaker Satterwhite's Washington statement was made in cognizance of that possible interpretation.

Ma Ferguson's situation is one entirely unique in modern politics. Mr. Ferguson was removed from office in 1917 by impeachment charges specifying misappropriation of state funds. In 1924, however, Mrs. Ferguson ran for office to "vindicate" her husband's name, and was elected the first woman governor on a wave of anti-Ku Klux Klan sentiment that routed klan candidates and left "Ma" a huge majority and the position of almost a national heroine.

Anderson Verifies Story of Man Held Here for Forgery

Michal Curran, who is in the county jail awaiting trial in district court on a charge of forgery, gave an accurate account of his unlawful adventures to Captain Walter Anderson last week, acording to information Anderson has received upon inquiry since Curran's arrest.

Replies received show that Curran is sought in Chicago for passing bogus checks; in Jackson, Mich., for the same offense. Sandusky, Ohio, for automobile theft; in Newcastle, Pa., for automobile theft; and in Omaha for bad checks.

These escapades make up only a small part of the story related by Curran, who imputed his fall here to the lateness of the hour at which Lincoln banks close.

He invited Ernest Guenzel over to the Lincoln National bank to see that his check was good, Curran said, figuring the bank closed at 1 or 2 o'clock. But it was still open, his check was not honored, and his arrest followed.

TOBACCO FIRM CLEARED

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—(A. ## Dry Thanksgiving On Broadway Is Promised By Buckner As He Pushes Cabaret Padlock Cases

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—Possession of a list of prominent patrons of gilded cabarets, where champagne flowed as of old—except in the matter of price—is one factor upon which Federal Attorney Buckner is counting for fulfillment of his prediction that there will be a dry Thanksgiving on Broadway.

He believes the proprietors of thirty exclusive places upon which notices of padlock proceedings have been served will consent to close their places without forcing jury trials, rather than have their books scrutinized or undergo the loss of prestige they would suffer by having the names of their patrons revealed.

Names of some patrons of one of the cabarets under fire have already been revealed without, however, any intimation that their checks covered anything more than the heavy cover charge or expensive food.

An announcement of the opening of Del Fey, one gilded palace involved in padlock proceedings when known as El Fay, which has come into the possession of Mr. Buckner, says:

"It is New Year's eve every night at the Del Fay."

The announcement then mentions as among visitors to the club Lord and Lady Mountbatten, Harry K. Thaw, Ann Pennington and other stage and screen celebrities. Abe Attell, ex-pugilist, was caught carrying champagne into the club.

Curiosity remains unsatisfied as to how Mr. Buckned obtained the evidence against places, which he says, had a regular Bertillon system of identification for patrons, involving introductions and scrutiny through peep holes before admission. Soon after he entered office he padlocked fourteen cabarets by the expenditure of $1,500 for champagne through lawyer friends, one of whom was threatened with blackballing recently when up for admission to the bar association. But these places were selling more or less openly.

Nothing has come to light as to how he obtained evidence against exclusive old time bars at which men and women in evening dress stood up to the brass rail, or against heavily curtained after theater clubs to which champagne and Burgundy were supplied by piping systems.

"We have iron riveted cases," said Mr. Buckner regarding the newest batch of places under fire, and I will urge the court to hand down a twelve months' padlock to each defendant who elects the fight.

The best bargain obtained by a consent decree, he added, would be six months' padlocking. He estimated all cases would be disposed of in time for a good, dry Thanksgiving. The time of closing in the cases of cabarets prosecuted previously averaged a month.

NEED RELIGION SAYS COOLIDGE

Tells Congregationalists Religious Influences a Cure For Crime.

Disposition To Observe Law First Necessary, Executive Asserts.

WASHINGTON, Oct 21.—(By the Associated Press)—President Coolidge believes public conscience, enlightened by religion rathen than the police powers of government, must be looked to to remedy a condition of lawlessness which e warns is altogether too prevalent

A lack of respect for government and conventions of nlightened society, is altogether too apparent, the president declared in an address here last night before the annual Council of Congregational Churches

Asserting that if there are any general failures in the enforcemen of laws, it is because there have first been general failures in the disposition to observe the law," the president saw in the "influence of religion" the only adequate remedy for the evil.

The governments part in the repression of crime and wrongdoing must be buttressed by an enlightened conscience and a "determined public sentiment" in favor of enforcement of law, Mr Coolidge said, before it "reaches its highest application"

People Must Do Part.

"The utmost ingenuity on the part of the police powers," he said, "will be substantially all wasted in an effort to enforce the law, if there does not exist a strong and vigorous effort on the part of the people to observe the law Such a determination cannot be produced by the government My own opinion is that it is furnished by religion"

The president added that he sa no "diminution in the stead-fastness of the religious convictions of the people," explaining that he was not referring to religion in 'any denominational or any narrow and technical sense "Rather, he believes there has been an increase of religious faith despite," all the complexities and distractions of the present life"

Everybody Talks and Everybody Walks

WE all talk and we all walk. These are the two most democratic forms of exercise. The human tongue needs no encouragement, but a great many feet would rather stay still.

It's not the foot's fault so much as it is the fault of the shoe. You can't blame a flexible, living member of a breathing body if it dislikes the artificial restriction of a rigid, unnatural shoe.

Make your walking an easy, healthful pleasure. You can't avoid it altogether, and the wise woman will do more of it—for these reasons:

Walking is the finest exercise for health and complexion.

Walking tends to keep a woman slender.

Walking is the great preserver of youth.

There is one make of shoe that harmonizes with the human foot in walking—the

Cantilever Shoe

This shoe is flexible, comfortable and finely made. It fits closely round the heel, feels good under the arch, and gives the toes room to lie straight and bend naturally

Fall Days were designed for lots of walking—crisp air and golden leaves Let a trim Cantilever Oxford, or a smart Cantilever Pump, show you the way to comfort, health and happiness The prices are moderate for the service rendered.

20,000 Canaries—All Sing.

By Arthur Brisbane.

Ancient history is written by guess-work and inference, because the ancients had no newspapers. Caesar, "the demagogue" of his day, wrote on the walls of Rome about doings in the senate that common people might read. But he wasn't much of an editor

It is different now, and the historian of 2025 will examine old newspaper files, find reports in the main wonderfully accurate, and write history, not imagination

When 100 years hence he comes to Tuesday morning, October 20, he will get a fairly accurate picture of the civilization of our day Thu

A young girl standing before a photograph of the young man she loved, an ordinary young man, shot herself in the breast When she came to she asked, "Doctor, did I do a good job?"

She had big blue eyes, and a white face, so the doctor sympathized with her The police arrested her for having a pistol without permission. She may live She is Danish.

Mrs Rose Pastor Stokes, very radical young person—communist, in fact—divorced by her husband, wails thus 'The prevailing social standard degrades lovers' and "a woman must go out of her home to get a divorce from a man that she does not love"

"Ha, look at that now," the conservative and virtuous will say "see what comes of being a radical and a communist" But run over the telephone list in Newport, and you find married ladies changing their names almost as rapidly as the lighting bug changes its illumination At Newport they are not 'red communists" It's a combination of inside urge and outside attraction, not radicalism, that does the mischief.

On the steamship Deutschland yesterday came Von Hoogstrain who directs the Philharmonic orchestra, and in the hold of the ship 20,000 canaries, the biggest shipment ever known to supply Christmas trade

If you doubt that "acquired characteristics are inherited," consider these canaries, all able to sing well A few centuries hence, in about 1,000 centuries, perhaps, human beings will be born with a thousand kinds of well-developed knowledge in one brain

Human beings with brains more complicated, bigger than brains of birds, ants or bees, will be born with a thousand kinds of developed knowledge in one brain That will be the beginning of a civilization and a race worth while

Europeans having decided to stop cutting each other's throats, temporarily at least, are having a love feast Frenchmen and Germans shake hands and smile And responsible correspondents startle you a little by announcing that Europe is determined 'to force the United States into the league, without any reservations"

That program may go through and then again it may not

Europe does not love Yankeeland and gets more bitter as we ask for something "on account"

It is even suggested that it might pay the nations of Europe to unite and fight the United States, rather than pay $10,000 000,000 with interest However, those nations have recently learned that a big war started to save 10 or 15 billions wouldn't be profitable The last one cost 250 billions

The Society for the Prevention of Crime will offer a prize for "the best scheme for abating crime in New York City"

A courageous, high-spirited man was always drunk when in New York On various expeditions to the Arctic circle he kept sober He was interested Men turn criminals or drunkards when they are bored or poor Give them excitement or money, or both and they will mend their ways But how are you going to do that

At least 50,000 men that used to work for $5 a day are now making $200 a day in the bootleg traffic What will you offer in place of that, good society for the prevention of crime?

At Harrisburg, Pa, Michael Oeiss and John Girsch are under sentence of death They solemnly say "Justice should be the same in all cases" They demand that their lives be spared because two rich boys in Chicago, Leopold and Loeb, were not executed for a crime inconceivably vile and cruel.

Future historians, reading today's newspapers, will observe that in a glorious republic money counts in politics, murder, society, everything

WOMEN APPROVE ONE AMENDMENT

Federation Convention at Scottsbluff Begins Active Work.

World Peace Is Designated Biggest Subject Demanding Attention.

SCOTTSBLUFF Neb, Oct 21—(AP)—One amendment in the by-laws was adopted and two other proposed changes were voted down, one after vigorous discussion, at the opening session of the thirtieth annual meeting of the Nebraska federation of Women's clubs, here Tuesday

More than 300 delegates and as many visitors crowded the Orpheum theater for the first meeting, at which Mrs. Paul Perryman of Broken Bow, presided Mrs Perryman predicted the "biggest and best" convention ever held.

Abolition of the state federation's auditor and substitution of a plan to have the books placed in the hands of a public accountant to be selected by the board of directors was voted

Hear Mrs Sherman.

Mrs John D Sherman of Estes Park, Col, president of the general federation of Women's clubs, told delegates that the first step toward world peace, is to "disarm oneself of intolerance of other nations and races"

"World peace," she said, "is one of the biggest subjects before the federation today The subject includes citizership and the American home, which we are trying to improve

"There is no security for the American home as long as war threatens, even in small countries far away We protect our home by insurance against fire and theft, but we fail to protect it against war

"The money represented in securities of the federal government in foreign countries equals the entire wealth of the United States in 1874 This vast amount must be protected War would infringe on our investments, war even in the far away countries of the world

"I believe that the women of the United States will get together and bring world peace. The general federation of women's clubs is one of the strongest organizations in existence and every member must co-operate in bringing about a world peace and contentment"

Portia Mansfield Dancers In Program At Orpheum Theater

Riotous, barbaric color in costumes and curtains and exquisitely artistic backgrounds, with artful lighting effects, combined to make the appearance of the Portia Mansfield dancers at the Orpheum Tuesday evening a colorful and aesthetic treat to the small, but appreciative audience The dancers, all students of the Steamboat Springs school all young and attractive coryphees were in Lincoln for the second appearance of the season

The first part, the usual pastorale of the interpretative dancers, was followed by a series of briefer numbers, each of which had its distinct appeal The rollicking 'A Picnic Day in Holland,' and a clever little number 'Is Happiness Sin?" were the most enthusiastically received Delicate and charming, with the most delightful tableau of all was 'Unfinished Symphony' and 'From an Etruscan Screen" was a unique thing of lines and angles

Outstanding in the closing part and in all the program was "Andante from Symphony Pathetique," a subtile, dainty number of scarfs and willowy girls and slow and stately movement under subdued and discriminating lighting A distinct attraction on the program was Miss Grace Hastings, who gave two groups of violin numbers 'Melody" Dawes, and 'Valse de Concert,' Musin, and "Tambourin Chinois,' Kreisler

Quite the most interesting of the dancers was the little bobbed Jeanne Fuller, who took part in several duet numbers Miss Fuller, who has an excellent stage personality, was essentially graceful, and had perfect control of her movements, even though beautifully relaxed and at ease

Arlen Planning To Write Film Stories

HOLLYWOOD, Cal, Oct 21—(AP)—Michael Arlen, author of several recently sensationally successful novels, arrived from New York yesterday to join the colony of best seller writers who are producing stories for the films

Posters, Banners Signs to Advertise Community Chest

Plans for advertising the community chest campaign have been completed at the organization, headquarters, and include streetcar advertising, posters, slogans, banners and signs on delivery wagons

One hundred banners bearing the campaign slogan. "Give, But Give Enough," will be put on as many delivery wagons, and fifty cards carrying the same slogan will be placed on the front of street cars. The Traction Co volunteered to carry the signs.

A huge banner has been strung across O street, between Eleventh and Twelfth streets, and will remain there during the campaign

At either Twelfth or Eleventh and O streets a 10-foot thermometer will be placed, on which will be indicated progress each day of the drive

A four-page pamphlet describing the activities of the chest will be distributed, to every home in Lincoln this week by the Boy Scouts

In addition to the other means of advertising, visual demonstrations of the work done by every chest agency will be given in the windows of seventeen downtown stores during the week of the campaign Living models will be included in these displays

The slogans will be used in the advertisements of forty-five Lincoln merchants.

Man, 81, Suffers Injuries When He Is Struck By Car

Nelson J Brown, 81, suffered minor injuries at Tenth and S streets when he was struck by a Ford roadster driven by George Leahy, 17, of Peru, Neb Charles Dasher, 17, also of Peru, was in the car with Leahy

Mr Brown was crossing S street on the west side of Tenth, when Leahy, who had driven onto the intersection from the west, found his way blocked by a northbound street car which was to turn west Leahy backed his car off the intersection, and in doing so, struck the aged man who had walked to a point just behind the car, which he assumed had gone on down Tenth street

Dr W H Slattery was called to dress the bruises and lacerations suffered by Mr Brown, who was taken to St Elizabeth's hospital for treatment He suffered a slight concussion of the brain, severe contusions and lacerations on his left hand and left knee and a bump on the back of his head He will probably recover

BORAH LAUNCHES A NEW ASSAULT ON WORLD COURT

Declares U. S. Will Not Join —Claims League Of Nations Tribunal.

Asserts Must Have Foundation Of International Law To Declare War Crime.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—The permanent court of international justice as at present constituted is not a World court, but a League of Nations court, declared Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, in an address last night.

The senator, who is chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, opposed American adherence to the tribunal until it is divorced from the League of Nations and given a foundation of international law which will declare war a crime and provide for bringing to justice fomentors of war.

He spoke to 2,000 persons at the Auditorium theater under the auspices of the Women's Roosevelt Republican club. It was the opening broadside of his campaign against the courtand it was the first address which the club is sponsoring this fall. On Friday afternoon Senator George W. Pepper of Pennsylvania, who is for American adherence under certain reservations, will speak, and next month the club will be addressed by Speaker Nicholas Longworth of Ohio.

Senator Borah asserted the issue was whether the United States would enter a League of Nations court or an "independent judicial tribunal."

He recalled that the late President Harding in a message to the senate declared the tribunal should be in fact a world court and that the United States should enter it upon equality only with other nations.

Says Part of League.

The senator quoted many sources to show that the present tribunal is a part of the League of Nations. He said that when the secretary of the league called together the jurists composing the committee that organized the court, they were notified that they were to organize as an essential department of the league. He quoted Elihu Root as saying the court was connected with the league.

No state or government not a member of the league can use the court without the league's permission, Mr. Borah asserted. He added that until the United State's adherence was broached, there was no denial or question of the league's connection with the court. Sir Robert Horne, speaking to the recent meeting of the inter-parliamentary union in Washington, had said that although the United States had refused to join the league, it still was hoped she would join "the most important part of the league—the court."

Particular attack was made by the senator upon the court's advisory opinions to which he said Elihu Root and John Bassett Moore, the American jurist in the court, also were opposed. He called attention to an Associated Press dispatch from The Hague last Sunday night stating that the court would meet in private on October 22 to consider the Mosul question.

If the court is to obtain the world's confidence, the Senator declared, it would have to separate itself from the role of "attorney and advisor."

Says Court Powerless.

Senator Borah also declared that a nation could not be brought into the court without its own consent. The question of the Ruhr occupation and the case of China could not be considered by the court because the nations concerned—France and England, Japan and France respectively—would not allow them to be.

"Not a single issue which involved war has ever been submitted to the court.

"If the European diplomats had had confidence in the court," he continued, "the Locarno treaties would have been put under its jurisdiction instead of a council."

A real world court, the senator argued, must be founded upon international law, chief among whose articles would be a clause defining war as a crime and providing that those men responsible for war be held accountable to the court. He would give the court compulsory power to bring to justice a wrong doing nation.

Senator Borah expressed his contempt for "great statesmen who preach peace and practice war."

In answer to a question from a man in the audience, he said that the court issue would be debated less than twenty-four hours in the senate if consent was given for the court to "divorce itself from the league." If, however, that consent were not given, the matter would be argued several days.

CHICAGO — A bankruptcy petition filed in Federal court here yesterday revealed that Mrs. Grace A. Leathe, widow of Samuel H. Leathe, former St. Louis broker, has only $600 left out of a fortune at one time estimated at $5,565,000.

Father Kills His Two Sons and Then Attempts Suicide

NORWICH, Conn., Oct. 21.—(AP)—A double murder and an attempted suicide were discovered here Tuesday when police summoned by a neighbor, entered the home of Eugene G. Beery, 38, and found Beery sitting in a chair with his throat cut. Beery lead the officers to an adjoining room, where they found the bodies of his two sons, Eugene, 5, and Joseph, 4, in a bed. Police say Beery admitted he had chloroformed the boys.

Beery told the police that his wife had left him after a quarrel. He is expected to recover.

Sells Dress Goods At 66 Cents Yard

Kansas City, Mo.—Women who make their own clothes and appreciate real bargains in quality dress material will marvel at the values made possible for them today by the announcement of the Textile Mill Products Co. of this city who will sell all of their 4 and 5-yard remnants at only 66c a yard.

The decision of this well known concern to sell remnants direct to the user offers an unusual opportunity to secure new fall colors in Serges, Tricotines and suitings at a big saving. ## Briefly Told News From The Wires

DES MOINES, Ia. — Spending their nights in jails along the way, two pretty Battle Creek girls have got as far as Des Moines on a hike from Kansas City to their Michigan home. They said their names were Ruth Fox and Dorothy Bates when they applied for lodging at the city jail Monday night, and added that they had no money and had been getting very good accommodations in similar "hotels" all the way out.

WINNIPEG, Man.—Samuel Larcombe of Birtle, Man., internationally known agriculturalist, has developed a new wheat which gives promises of being resistant to black stem rust, it was learned here Tuesday. The grain has been named Axminster. It yields 30 per cent more than Marquis and was pronounced equal in milling value to Red Fife and Marquis.

NEW YORK,—Eugene Reising, head of the Reising Arms Co., of Hartford, Conn., was indicted yesterday for his sale of pistol silencers to members of the "cowboy gang." Twelve members of this gang now are under arrest charged with a wholesale crime. Reising, police said, is an inventor of a silencer for pistols.

WASHINGTON — The national women's party headquarters yesterday declared the Supreme court decision Monday holding unconstitutional the Arizona minimum wage law for women indicated that the demand of the modern women for equal rights with men in industry" is at last beginning to be heard." The organization held that wage legislation, if enacted, "should put men and women on an equal basis."

BEGIN MONOPOLY CASE HEARINGS

General Electric and Radio Corporation Accused of Law Violations.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—Interest and holdings of the General Electric Co., in concerns throughout the United States and Canada were described at the hearings begun Tuesday by the federal trade commission into charges of monopoly and restraint of trade against the Radio Corporation of America, the General Electric Co. and six associated manufacturing interests.

Since the defendants represent an estimated total capital investment of nearly two billion dollars, the case was said to be the largest ever brought before the commission. The hearing was expected to last several weeks.

Objection to the jurisdiction of the commission and denial of the charges were filed at the outset by defendants and were overruled by Examiner William C. Reeves, presiding.

John P. Cotton, counsel for the Radio corporation, objected to the charges as "vague' and declared the alleged practices of the corporations were "not unfair methods of competition," but actually "beneficial," having created "the modern art of radio," established a worldwide system of communication, brought entertainment to countless homes and aided in the safeguarding of life at sea.

Any combination that night exist, said Mr. Cotton, was a "voluntary combination of supplementary and non-competitive units," creating a vast industry. He further stated that acts of the defendants had been approved by other executive departments of the government and that some federal officers had participated in several of them.

The widespread ramifications of the General Electric Co., were revealed by the first witness, F. D. Kammerer, chief traveling auditor of the General Electric. He said the company held interests in hotels, amusement parks, cash stores, fair and exhibition companies, railways and numerous other concerns.

$65,000 Paid For Return Of Mrs. Donahue's Gems

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—(AP)—The sum of $65,000 was paid for the return of the $688,000 worth of jewels stolen from Mrs. James P. Donahue; Assistant District Attorney Pecora disclosed Tuesday in his long promised statement of the mysterious robbery. He failed to indicate the identity of the thief or thieves.

The jewels were turned over to the authorities by Noel Scaffa, a private detective, who said he received them at a conference held October 7 at a local hotel.

Mr. Pecora's statement revealed the narrative filed by the detective which detailed his negotiations for the retudn on the basis of a payment of 10 per cent of the value of the missing property. Payment was made in cash, comprising bills of large and small denomination which were provided by the insurance company.

Scaffa declared he received the jewels from a man who he knew only as "Sam Ayton" and who he had never seen before he met him at the hotel in compliance with a pre-arranged schedule. He insisted he would be unable to identify the go-between.

Stop Coughing!

—Kennedys

"Last winter I contracted a terrible cough and could not check it," said Mrs. Myrtle Griffith of 128 South C St., Poplar Bluff, Mo. (Picture above.) "Finally, one day I was in a drug store and asked the druggist what he thought would be good for my cough. He said Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery was the best thing I could get. I then took two bottles of the Discovery and by that time I had no cough at all. I discovered also that it helped me otherwise, gave me a normal appetite and rich red blod."

Step into any drug store and ask for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in tablets or liquid, or send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial pkg. and write for free advice.—Advertisement.

Minerva's Mail

TAKE YOUR TROUBLES TO MINERVA

Let Them "Flap."

Dear Minerva: My letter is not of my own troubles but an answer to "Opal."

My mother also is a flapper even if she is a grandmother, but for my part I am glad of it.

My mother was married young and her happiness was not, for her to have in married life. Mother was never allowed to have any men friends after she was divorced from my father. My grandmother thought it terrible for a mother with two grown children to have a gentleman friend.

Since my marriage I am glad to see my mother so free and independent. I never gave my mother anything but trouble and worry and I would give almost anything to have those few grey hairs gone and know it was not I that caused them. Although my mother is no young lady in age she looks as young as I do. She is one of the best dressed women in town and is thought a lot of. For my part I say have your good time mothers even if you are grandmothers too. We will want to do the same when we are old.—MAG

Dear Minerva: I have just read Opal's lament about her flapper mother. I say good for that mother. Why shouldn't she have a fur coat? I'll bet she has gone without one more than once so daughter could have nice things. And an apartment is just what she needs. Nothing like a little place to call your own. And a beaux. Why not and get married if they want to. She is certainly old enough to know what she wants. And not in her second childhood either. And dancing lessons. I suppose she has been too busy before so now is her time to learn. Go to it mother, I'm for you.

I am middle age and a grandmother. I live alone in an apartment house, have no income but am sure I would not want to live with someone else unless I was able to do for myself. I would love to flap and have beaux but have no time as I have to work every day to pay for my apartment and clothes. So go to it grandmother, wish I was with you.—ANOTHER GRANDMOTHER.

Root of Divorces.

Dear Minerva: I just read an illuminating article by a notable judge in a magazine which tells us that infidelity is the root of most divorces caused by lack of education along the subject of sex.

I believe the foundation of married happiness lies in a real knowledge of what sex means. What man, unless of a literary turn of mind, or a woman, unless prompted by curiosity, would read "Little Essays of Love and Virtue," by Havelock Ellis? That little book holds between its pages the secret of marriage success. I could not recommend it for mid-Victorian minds, but the younger generation could profit by its erudition.

If marriage was based on mental affinity without an equivalent sex attraction to make the union a holy one, the fundamental foundation is lacking and the relationship null and void. One may stay single and enjoy mental companionship. Given a choice of the two powers for harmony let me have personality and sex charm.

They pervade the atmosphere of my home and I'm strong for "Married Young" Her experience in ours. You know there is something supercilious about folks that marry very young. They seem to have enjoyed a rarer fellowship than later unions do. We are ourselves—HAPPILY MARRIED.

Well-Balanced Marriages.

Dear Minerva: Since the subject has been brought up in the Mail of well-balanced marriages I want to give my views. I do not believe more emphasis should be put on sex affinity than on personality as they are of equal importance in leavening the whole of marriage.

Without temperamental understanding, no union can be successful in its fullest sense. And I must not be understood to mean that being deprived of congenial tastes has not been a most recent experience. It has been a loss that has shut me off from countless pleasures that are wholly mental.

But in spite of the fact that H. G. Wells means no more to my mate than Charley Chaplin, and that he often mistakes "Abide With Me" for "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep" and prefers his sausage and fried potatoes while I dote on caviar and oyster cocktails—in spite of these facts it is one of the almost extinct species of model males that honors me with his devotion and we are happily married also.— MARRIED YOUNG.

A. Mental mates are at least never at a loss to know what to do with their spare time.

I think one reason at least that you find life so satisfactory lies in your own abundance of gray matter. You sound too interesting to be bored with life as long as you have a couple of eyes, two ears and a pair of hands.

LEAD IS TAKEN BY HAZEL MEIER

Complete Change In Standing Of High Five In Empreses Contest.

CONTEST LEADERS.

| Pauline Bloom | 2700 |
| Marguerite Bauer | 2680 |
| Sylvia Cole | 2600 |

Another day brought a complete change in the leaders in the American Legion's "Imperial Empress" contest. The Wednesday noon tally held surprises for everybody in the count of each contestant's votes. Miss Hazel Meier, one of the youngest candidates in the contest, displaye da most unusual gain in taking away the lead of Waneitta Hansen who topped the list Tuesday. Ruth D. Johnson came in for credit with broad stride from her previous standing. Pauline Bloom's rise was not exceptional in comparison, but held a steady pace and eliminated two candidates between herself and the head of the list.

With the opening of the third day the contestants were just beginning to arrange their canvass in a more organized manner and it is believed by the committee that the sensational changes in position will be fewer toward the close of the week and the gains become more of a steady rise.

Wednesday noon the entire group of candidates gathered at the Nebraska Buick Auto company plant as guests of the firm for a visit to the plant and brief entertainment by the Ray-O-Vac Twins, radio artists who are playing an engagement in Lincoln for the remainder of the week. Photographs were secured of the entire group before they were taken for a short ride about the city as a part of the entertainment program. At Fire Station No. 1, throught the courtesy of Fire Chief Hanson, the girls were allowed to demonstrate for benefit of of the photographer just how fire fighting apparatus should be handled.

Even Police Chief Johnstone and Officer Charles Wilson were drafted into the roles of subjects before the camera along with the contestants. The firemen and officers were complimented with a short serenade by the radio entertainers before the caravan passed on to other sections of the city.

The contestants now stand in the following order:

| | |
|---|---|
| Hazel Meier | 2925 |
| Ruth D Johnson | 2750 |
| Pauline Bloom | 2700 |

Says Americans Must Practice Law Observance

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Americans must cease thinking primarily of law enforcement and begin to practice law observance, declared Congressman Robert G. Simmons in an address before the annual convention of the Nebraska Federation of Woman's club here Wednesday

"We have about reached the maturation point in law enforcement," he said. "Further efforts will be availing only as the people themselves decide to obey the law Too many citizens feel no obligations to obey laws of which they do not approve. When the citizen deems it his duty to obey all laws and acts according to that duty, law enforcement will be simple.

Laws never lead but always follow the will of a free people," the congressman philosophized

"The people themselves," he added, "must see that their will is obeyed.

"The prohibition laws are not the only ones that are being disobeyed. Every law from traffic regulations through the misdemeanors and feionies to murder are being broken. The remedy is not repeal or modification. The remedy is the education of the citizen to the necessity of the law and the necessity for its observance. Americans must look less to law enforcing officials and more to themselves.

"Respect for our laws and institutions is vital. The strength of this nation has been builded upon the influence of the home, the lessons of the school, and the guiding influence of the religious faith of the nation That influence for good will in the end will be dominant. When they control the problem will be easy."

Report Sale Of Waite-Phillips Oil Properties

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—(AP)—The New York Sun said Tuesday that the Waite-Phillips Petroleum Co., which at one time was to be consolidated with the Phillips Petroleum Co., has been taken over by a syndicate headed by Blair & Co., Inc.

Confirmation of the sale of the property was made at Tulsa, Okla., by Waite Phillips, president of the company which bears his name. While the exact terms of the deal were not disclosed, dispatches from the west stated that Mr. Phillips and his few associates who owned the company received cash for their holdings, estimated to be between $22,000,000 and $25,000,000.

Following announcement of the sale, it was reported that the property will be acquired by the Standard Oil Co., of Indiana.

DELAY HEARINGS IN SUB DISASTER

Officers Of Steamship, City of Rome, Called To Testify October 26.

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—The naval inquiry board assembled here yesterday to investigate the ramming of the submarine S-51 by the steamer City of Rome adjourned its hearings late Tuesday until October 26, when Capt. John H. Diehl, master of the steamer, and his officers will be called to testify.

Several witnesses, including the steamer's radio operator, have testified that Captain Diehl waited almost two hours before he sent out a message relating to the disaster. The testimony showed that the navy department was not notified until three hours after the submarine was sent to the bottom.

These last two points were brought out yesterday when the steamer's radio log was produced by George W. Nichols, Boston manager of the Radio Corporation of America. Corroborative testimony was given by Harold H. Kelley, radio operator on the City of Rome, and Vincent E. Viall, operator on duty at the Boston navy yard, at the time of the disaster.

INDIFFERENCE IS LAW'S HINDRANCE

Governor Says Non-Existent Public Opinion Obstacle to Enforcement.

Declares Murder Rate Will Be Reduced By Surer, Quicker Court Action.

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb, Oct 21—(AP)—Indifference on the part of the public was given, by Governor Adam McMullen in an address before the Nebraska Federation of Women's clubs, as the main obstacle in the way of proper law enforcement in the United States This same degree of indifference, it was noted by Governor McMullen, exists in all governmental affairs

The cost of crime in America, he said, is estimated at ten billion dollars per year, or eight and one-quarter per cent of the nation's annual income This vast waste he laid directly to lack of interest in the enactment of proper laws, lack of interest in the kind of men selected to enforce them, lack of interest in elections, little or no concern in dilatory court procedure or in seeing that punishment for crime is adequate, certain and prompt, and a habitual tendency to permit sentimental reasons to overthrow the definite purposes of the law, and to criticize officials for doing their duty.

While crime costs eight and one-quarter per cent of our nations annual income, he declared, education, our greatest constructive force, costs only one and one-half per cent of the nation's income This comparative cost is the more striking, he pointed out, since there are 125 times as many youths in elemental and grade schools as there are inmates in the penal institutions The governor urged education, the most effective foe of crime, to create an enlightened citizenship and a wise, tolerant and vigilant body of public opinion

A Murder Every 50 Minutes.

"There are many obstacles in the way of proper law enforcement," Governor McMullen said 'How to remove them has been the problem since the earliest days of organized society In fact they cannot all be removed so long as human nature remains what it is The most we can expect is to reduce them to the lowest possible number The crime of murder, first committed thousands of years ago is being committed today in America at the rate of one every fifty minutes During the time this convention is in session this afternoon, four murders will have taken place in various parts of the United States The three of the four who commit the murders this afternoon will never be punished One of the three other will be acquitted by a coroner's jury or will be released after the preliminary hearing while the other two will escape detection The fourth murderer will be tried by the courts and the chances are even that he will be acquitted If he is not acquitted the chances are sixty to one that he will be convicted of a degree of murder less than first degree and will be given a sentence of from five to twenty years in prison If he is convicted of first degree murder the chances are one hundred to one that he will be given a life sentence and in less than nine years according to the average over the country, will be given his freedom

"In cities like Chicago and New York murderers may be hired to kill men for $25 or less Judge Dean of our supreme court has stated that in Chicago murderers could be hired for less than $10

"In England only one murder is committed to every one hundred in this country From the day of the commission of murder in this country to the hour when the prisoner is actually incarcerated or executed the lapse of time averages eighteen months In England when a man contemplates murder he can figure with reasonable certainty that within ninety days he will pay for it with his life In this country the murderer has every protection of the law, his victim has none. In England it is the reverse In this country, the moment a murderer is caught, the machinery of the law is set in motion to save him.

Blames Attitude of People.

"What is the main obstacle to law enforcement? What obstacle exists that if removed would reduce the total number of law violations whether felonies or misdemeanors? Enforcement officers of long experience say it is the indifference on the part of the people That is the same degree of indifference that is shown in all government affairs—lack of interest in the enactment of proper laws, lack of interest in the kind of men selected to enforce them, lack of interest in elections, little or no concern in seeing that punishment for crime is adequate, certain and prompt; habitual tendency to permit sentimental reasons to overthrow the definite purposes of the law, habitual tendency to criticize officials for doing their duty and in some cases offering no criticism if officials are negligent, carelessness in individual observance of law, carelessness in building up public sentiment that would regard crime as not only a moral menace but also as an economic waste

"The cost of crime in America is estimated at ten billion dollars per year or eight and one-quarter per cent of the nation's annual income On the other hand, education, our greatest constructive force, costs only one and one-half per cent of our nation's income

"Education is the most effective foe of crime, and enlightened citizenship will mean the creation of wise and tolerant and vigilant public opinion In our government, judicial and civil conditions are whatever public opinion makes them. Citizens will observe the law and officials will enforce it if public opinion so demands.

"Aristotle said that wicked men are controlled by fear; good men are controlled by respect If public opinion will instill fear in the hearts of criminals by insisting on prompt and adequate punishment for crime, one of the obstacles to law enforcement will be removed"

BEATRICE, Neb, Oct 21—Fire early Tuesday morning destroyed nine stacks of wheat on the Waylon Miller farm eight miles west of Beatrice The origin of the fire is a mystery Some of the outbuildings caught fire, but were saved by hard work on the part of Mr Miller and neighbors The loss is placed at $1 000 partly covered by insurance

TWO ACCIDENTS IN SINGLE DAY

Engineer Kuhn of Union Pacific Injured In Northport Yard.

(Special to The Star)

SCOTTSBLUFFS, Neb, Oct. 21—Two bad railroad accidents were recorded at Northport on the Union Pacific branch in the same day, one of which resulted in serious injury to Engineer H. J Kuhn and damage to an engine and way car. Mr. Kuhn was injured when he jumped through the window of his cab and struck the ground He suffered a wrenched back, badly cut head and internal injuries, the extent of which have not yet been ascertained He saw danger of his light engine "buckling" as the tender left the track, and because his fireman was on the running board, he could not get to the side of the engine to jump, and had to go through the cab.

No one was hurt in the other accident that occurred later in the day, when a big passenger engine pulling train No 78 crashed into the end of a way car onthe Bridgeport-Scottsbluff local freight The engineer and fireman of the passenger train and the conductor and brakeman of the freight jumped and avoided injury, but the way car of the freight was completely demolished and three cars of coal were derailed and sprinkled over the right of way

EYE IS INJURED.

(Special to The Star)

RED CLOUD, Neb, Oct 21—Chester Roberts, automobile mechanic and owner of a machine shop in this city, was seriously injured while helping weld the frame of an automobile. When he stooped over to pick up a hammer a brass rod, held by another mechanic and which was at white heat struck him in the eye, burning through the eye lid Pysicians as yet are unable to determine exactly what damage as been done to the eye proper or how it will affect his sight

Company Says It Paid Too High a Price For Beets

(Special to The Star.)

BAYARD, Neb, Oct 21.—An overpayment of 15 cents per ton in the Colorado and Nebraska districts by the Great Western Sugar company was announced last week No refund will be asked, it was stated. Letters mailed out explained that sugar had slumped in value considerably and that the contract price would really amount to but $7 35, while $7 50 has already been paid The overpayment amounted to about $400,000, it was stated.

No action has been announced by the growers' association, but valley newspapers and private individuals are expressing dissatisfaction The American Beet Sugar company at Grand Island, and the Holly Sugar corporation, just across the line in Wyoming, have both made payments aggregating in excess of $8 per ton.

Motives are the Feature of this French

Wilton Rug

The decorative art of Japan is well known On vases, porcelain, fans and embroidery of all kinds we find nature drawn upon—principally verdure, but often animal life, including mankind—in designs which are distinctive, oft-times quaint, and always artistic

Many of the attractive motives which the Japanese artists use adapt themselves excellently to modern rug designing, as shown in this beautiful FRENCH WILTON.

In both design and color the rug is the embodiment of dainty artistry.

Appropriate for living-room, library, dining-room or hall. It will also make a charming floor covering for bedroom or boudoir. Size 9x12 for $150.

"When you're sitting up with a sick friend—

—and the air is blue"

Whenever you're working under high pressure—or playing poker far into the night—you're likely to smoke more than usual.

That's the time this new habit of eating Life Savers between smokes comes in as a "life saver", indeed.

Try them once between smokes and you'll never be without them again. They're almost as good as the smoke itself.

* * *

More and more smokers are doing the same thing. We wondered if you knew this about Life Savers, those little candy mints with the hole; how they freshen your mouth between smokes, soothe your nerves and make the next smoke taste so much better.

It's a fact: Life Savers easily double your smoke enjoyment. Their wonderful aromatic flavors freshen your mouth like a good drink of water when you're really thirsty—and steady your nerves for work or play. Once you try them this way between smokes, you'll always have a package handy.

Six flavors are displayed at all good stores so you may help yourself: Pep-o-mint, Wint-o-green, Cinn-o-mon, Lic-o-rice, Cl-o-ve and Vi-o-let. Five cents a package.—Life Savers, Inc., Port Chester, N. Y.

BLACKSMITHS IN ANNUAL MEETING

Nearly 200 Attend Opening Session Here Wednesday Morning.

President Hansen Deplores Lack of Young Men In the Trade.

Almost 200 blacksmiths, horseshoers and wheelwrights had registered Wednesday morning for the opening session of the association at the chamber of commerce. The convention will continue three days closing Friday night following a series of demonstrations at the engineering building at the agricultural college.

The convention opened with an invocation by Rev Walter Aitken of St Paul Methodist church, and an address of welcome by Major Zehrung President F. C. Hansen of York, presided and responded.

President Hansen sounded the keynote of the convention as "placing the blacksmithing business on an equality with other lines of endeavor" He said that the past year has been one of the best the organization has ever known There his been more interest shown and definite progress has been made along with a noticeable growth in membership, he said.

"There is but one regret," he said "I am unable to see any gain in the number of people engaged in the blacksmith business Apprentices cannot be had and unless something is done the time will come when our ranks will thin out and fade away" He expressed a hope that the convention would be able to take some action which would have a tendency to place the business before the public in such light as would cause young men to want to take it up

In his report Secretary G C Casten of Grafton also lamented the lack of new blood. "The blacksmith trade dates from earliest history and will continue to hold a page there," he said, "but we must have more men engaged in that kind of work From the earliest Bible days the blacksmith has been a conspicuous personage in industry and always will be, but he has not taken the place in the public eye that he should That is what this association is for and I expect through the co-operative efforts of the membership another year will see this body of men holding a place in public opinion that belongs to them"

Methods of increasing business and discussion of prices took up a considerable portion of the afternoon session along with an address by Frank D Thompson and talks by the members

FRENCH CRUSH DRUSE REVOLT

Entire Quarter Of City Of Damascus Ruined Before Tribesmen Put Down.

DAMASCUS, Syria, Oct 21.—(By the Associated Press)—The French troops have succeeded in crushing the most serious revolt started by the Druse tribesmen since France's occupation of Syria under the League of Nations mandate The trouble was not put down, however, before a pitched battle had been engaged in and an entire quarter of the city of Damascus hand been virtually ruined Artillery, tanks and armored cars were used by the French

The troops were surprised by the suddenness and the bitterness of the attack, which was carried out by bands of Druses which had filtered into the southern part of Damascus and were joined by members of the local populace Heretofore the activities of the Druses had been confined to the country districts

The disorder started at 9 o'clock Monday evening in the Moslem section of the city and it was only after twenty-four hours of fierce resistance to the French troops that the rebels offered to capitulate During the fighting the Druses set fire to numerous stores and private residences and fought the French from behind hastily thrown up barricades

The French, in addition to attending the rebels in hand to hand combat, trained their guns on the Moslem section and bombarded the rebels throughout the entire period of hostility Armored cars and tanks also were effective

The French losses are declared to have been light A full surrender by the rebels is expected shortly

ORDER AMERICAN SHIPS TO EGYPT

Two Destroyers To Remain In Readiness If Needed At Syrian Ports.

WASHINGTON, Oct 21.—(By the Associated Press)—Two American destroyer have been ordered from Gibraltar to Alexandria, Egypt, to remain in readiness there for use in Syrian ports should their presence become necessary for the protection of American lives and property as a result of the revolt by tribesmen in that country.

Instructions were cabled Vice Admiral Roger Wells, commanding the European squadron, after a request for the ships had been received here from Paul Knabensue, American consult in Beirut, Syria.

State department officials are hopeful that it will not be necessary to move the ships from Alexandria, but in any emergency they will be within quick sailing distance of Syrian ports

Advices concerning the Syrian disturbance show that it centers in the vicinity of Damascus A high mountain range separates Dasmascus and the Mediterranean coast and for this reason it is not believed the revolt will not spread to the coastal regions to threaten American life or property

A LONDON EDITOR HOPES FOR PEACE

A. E. Owen Jones Wants Coolidge To Initiate World Disarmament Movement.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—If President Coolidge should initiate and carry through a movement for world disarmament at this time he would be considered as "one of the greatest benefactors of mankind"

A E Owen Jones, London, England, editor of the Paxton Magazine and of the British Printer, so declared last night in an address opening the Thirty-eight annual convention of the United Typothae of America

"If for no other reason than an economic one," he said, "we welcome with enthusiasm the suggestion that President Coolidge should initiate a movement for disarmament This is the psychological opportunity. The pact is signed and the whole of Europe is hungry for what he has to offer If President Coolidge can bring this about he will rank as one of the greatest benefactors of mankind."

British people are watching the working out of prohibition in America and are shocked by the way in which the dry laws are flouted, he said.

GUARDSMEN TRY FOR WEST POINT

Adj. Gen. Paul Names Ten Nebraskans to Take Academy's Examinations.

Ten members of the Nebraska national guard will be examined as applicants for admission to West Point military academy, November 9 to 13 in Lincoln, under an order issued by Adjutant General H. J. Paul. From among these ten, one who grades highest in physical and mental tests will be selected to take a final examination held later at Fort Leavenworth, Kas., along with representatives of other states.

Those who will take the Nebraska examination at Lincoln are:

Sergeant Dale E. Thomas, Co. A, 134 Infantry, Nebraska City.

Sergeant Raymond E. Timothy, Co. B, 134th Infantry, Falls City.

Sergeant Elmer B. Van, M. T. Co. 137, Q. M. C., Holdrege.

Sergeant J. Quincy Wilcox, Co. D, 134th Infantry, North Platte.

Corporal Frank Geiselman, Wagon Co. 120, Q. M. C., Kearney.

Corporal James S. Hice, Service Co. 134th Infantry, York.

Corporal George W. Weber, Co. D, 134th Infantry, North Platte.

Private first class, Rudolph L. Richards, Wagon Co. 119, Q. M. C., Lexington.

Private Fred C. Arnold, Co. C, 134th Infantry, Beatrice.

Private Walter E. Dresp, Co. C, 134th Infantry, Beatrice.

The following persons have been designated as members of the examining board:

Major Thomas F. McNeill, infantry instructor, Nebraska National Guard, president of the board will conduct the examination in algebra and plane geometry.

Major James F. Pressnell, medical corps, will conduct the physical examinations.

Captain Jack L. Meyer, Q. M. C., recorder for the board, will conduct the examinations in history of the United States, general, medieval, English and modern history, English grammar, English composition and literature

Was Drugged By Constipation Poisons

New York City. Mr. Victor Stein writes:—"I never realized why I went around with a doped, dizzy feeling most of the time. My head would swim and hurt, my stomach easily became upset and food had no appeal. My whole body felt wrong. All this must have been due to the poisons of constipation getting into my system, for after taking your Carter's Little Liver Pills for a while, all these troubles have disappeared."

Carter's Little Liver Pills cause the bowels to move in a gentle but effective manner. They are purely vegetable and free from habit forming drugs. All druggists, 25c, red packages. Try them.

Nebraskans Profit On Florida Land

(Special to The Star.)

WESTERN, Neb., Oct. 21.—According to word received here by old friends of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur King, former long time residents of Western, citizens of Winter Haven, Fla., for the past ten years they have just completed a deal disposing of most of an eight acre tract of land at Winter Haven which netted them $50,000 cash. It is understood that they purchased the land about ten years ago for a few hundred dollars, and that they withheld a one acre tract from the recent sale for a home for themselves. The acreage sold is being platted into building lots.

Heavy Return On Patch of Potatoes

WYMORE, Neb., Oct. 21.—From a suburban tract of eight acres of land in the east part of Wymore, Charles De Rock just harvested 400 bushels of Irish and 200 bushels of sweet potatoes, which are worth $1.75 per bushel on the local market. Besides the potato crop De Rock raised a good supply of other vegetables.

URGES CHANGE IN CONTROL OF BANKS

Van E. Peterson Wants State Supervision Taken Out Of Politics.

Says Friction Between Commerce Department and Fund Body.

(Special to The Star)

OMAHA, Oct. 21.—Supervision and control of state banks by the bankers themselves, as against "political control" by the governor through the appointive head of the state trade and commerce department, were advocated by Van E. Peterson, secretary of the guaranty fund commission, in an address before the Nebraska Bankers' association here today.

Mr. Peterson, in the course of his remarks, took several indirect shots at Trade and Commerce Secretary Kirk Griggs, who is also attending the convention and will speak Thursday. He indicated that there has been a good deal of friction between the commission and the department on various matters, particularly as to whether the assets of failed banks should be disposed of and their affairs wound up as quickly as possible, or business operations continued with a view to realizing more money from the assets.

Answering the criticism that the guaranty fund commission's policy of continuing to operate banks which have come into its hands, thereby "putting the state into competition with private business," Mr. Peterson said he didn't think anybody was seriously complaining about this except other bankers in the same towns who were trying to get hold of the business and assets at a bargain price."

Getting All They Can.

The commission, he asserted, is acting as trustee for all the solvent state banks of Nebraska and endeavoring to get every dollar it can out of $10,000,000 of book assets in Thirty-two banks which it is now operating as going concerns. If given sufficient time, he said, it would be able to salvage a large part of that sum, whereas, if the assets were put up at auction immediately they would bring much less. Mr. Peterson pointed out that these banks have about $10,000,000 of deposits—an amount equal to their total book assets—and if they were closed the guaranty fund would become liable for payment of that sum to depositors. The fund could not pay any such sum, he declared.

Ninety-seven other state banks have failed since the guaranty law became effective in 1911, he reported. Of these, ninety are still in receivership, the affairs of the other seven having been finally wound up.

The guaranty fund commission has 150 employes on its payroll and has thirty-five attorneys besides helping to handle 1,500 lawsuits now in the courts involving assets of the banks and claims against them. Secretary Peterson told his audience. Among the assets are 750 pieces of real estate, which are being sold off as fast as advantageous disposition can be made of them.

Says $800,000 Saving.

Peterson's summary showed that the commission's total expense account for the fiscal year ended June 30, last, was $345,186. He compared this with $515,205 of expense incurred in a former year by fifty-eight separate receiverships, before the guaranty fund board was created and took charge. As the number of banks handled now is more than double what it was then, he estimated a yearly saving of over $800,000 through the commission's efforts.

It was also pointed out that the individual receivers collected only 29 per cent of the assets, while the commission during the first two years of its existence collected 40 per cent.

"Politicians advocated and secured the passage of the guaranty fund law, thereby forcing you to pay the losses, but retained unto themselves the administration of the law both as to going and failed banks," the speaker declared. He blamed the enormous losses of the guaranty fund upon inefficient political administration of the law. The act of 1923 creating the guaranty fund commission was all that saved the fund, he said.

Peterson expressed himself in favor of vesting the commission with still greater powers, including the appointment of state bank examiners. A bill of this kind was drawn for introduction in the legislature last winter, he said, but because of Governor McMullen's opposition it was never presented. He thought there should be a state banking department separate from everything else, and that the bankers of the state should select the man to administer it.

Tells Club Women Play Unifies Town For Civic Endeavor

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Communities that use their leisure time in healthy and active play develop a co-operative spirit that unifies their citizens for all lines of community effort, Mrs. W. C. Weitzel of Albion, state chairman of community service, declared in an address Wednesday before the Nebrask Federation of Women's clubs convention.

"A woman's club is one of the most valuable assets of the community," Mrs. Weitzel said. "Such an organization, made up of the mothers, teachers and female relatives of the younger generation cannot hope to escape the civic responsibilities inherent in these relationships. If there are conditions working against the health of the community, the women's club should find them and can eliminate their continuance.

"The purpose of community service is to help men, women and children to find expression through art and music and in all forms of play; to develop the play resources within the community—the playground, the social centers, swimming pools and other facilities—and to plan programs for social recreation and educational activities in which all groups can share. These activities should include, not only the mayor, but the teacher, the washerwoman, the church, the labor unions te men's organizations, the old and the young."

Mrs. Weitzel took up a typical program of community welfare work which would include a program of girls work, an Americanization campaign, extension of playground facilities, and discussion of community problems through the women's clubs. She urged that the clubs of the state broaden their former programs on art, civics and education to include the entire community.

"In the interests of education, the women's club might well sponsor a community chautauqua and direct an institute for training volunteers to become game leaders and song leaders. To serve any and all groups in the community. Whatever is done to further art or to improve civic conditions depends in any community upon a very considerable amount of public education. This, the women's clubs should energetically set about accomplishing. A "know your city" campaign asking everyone to take part in the serving is a good way to start the bll rolling."

Admitted Carrying Property Away But Acquitted of Theft

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Oct. 21. (AP)—Regardless of the fact that testimony in the case showed the accused admitted having assisted in carrying away property, a jury in the district court here found Lou Spencer not guilty of burglary. Before dismissing the accused Judge Clements took occasion to warn him that he had been standing squarely in front of the penitentiary with its doors wide open and if was only by luck that he did not enter them.

The alleged theft was of household goods, a local brace of hounds leading police to the missing property. The case of Harry Norris now is before another jury which has been deliberating fifteen hours.

Blaze at Grand Island Results In $10,000 Loss

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Oct. 21.—(A. P.)—Fire of unknown origin early Wednesday caused a total loss estimated at from $10,000 to $15,000 to the Grand Island candy kitchen of Gus Valenis, the Piggly-Wiggly store, the Krehmke-Bixenmann meat market and the building occupied by the three. The building is the property of Miss Rachel McCann. The last two stores mentioned are in one room. Manager Richardson of the Piggly-Wiggly store is out of the city and definite figures of insurance and value of stock cannot be ascertained.

At Death's Door

"Ten years of stomach trouble reduced me to a living skeleton. I had attacks of pain that doubled me up like a jack-knife and I was as yellow as a gold piece. No medicine or doctors helped me and was really at death's door. A lodge brother advised me to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, and I found it to be the only medicine to touch my case." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Harley Drug Co., and druggists everywhere—Advertisement.

2,200 AT ANNUAL I. O. O. F. MEETING

Odd Fellows and Rebekahs In Convention at Grand Island.

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Oct. 21.—(A. P.)—More than 2,200 Odd Fellows and Rebekahs had arrived here early Wednesday to attend the three day annual convention with auxiliary orders. The sessions will close Thursday afternoon. Delegates officers and past officers of the Rebekah assembly who are attending number over 1,000, it was stated.

A joint memorial service was held Thursday evening at the auditorium for 118 Rebekahs and 257 Odd Fellows of Nebraska deceased since the meeting of a year ago. The service was preceded by a reception at which the guests were welcomed by Mayor M. W. Jenkins and E. J. Wolbach, president of the chamber of commerce.

The address of response was made by Grand Master W. H. Van Cleve, of Tekamah. He reviewed the origin and history of the organization. Musical selections and readings completed the program.

Eighteen past presidents of the Rebekah assembly at the annual banquet elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Fannie Bebow, Coleridge; vice president, Julia Welch, Lincoln; Secretary, Harriet Cain, Fremont; treasurer, Laura Knapp, York.

About forty men will be initiated into the ranks of the Ancient Mystic order of Samaritans, often called the Muscovites, Wednesday evening.

Urges Prohibition Of "Peyote Evil"

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb., Oct. 21.—(A. P.)—Prohibition of the "peyote evil" was urged by Superintendent Frank Mann, of the Winnebago Indian reservation, in an address before the annual convention of the Nebraska Federation of women's clubs here today.

Mr. Mann urged the women of the state to exert their utmost influence in the next legislature to secure passage of a law prohibiting the use of the peyote bean, used by the Indians on the Winnebago reservation as an intoxicant or a narcotic.

The peyote, Mr. Mann explained, is gathered by slicing off the top of a cactus plant.

"The preparation of the drug for use is simple," the Indian agent said. "The 'button" may be eaten raw, or it may be ground into a powder, or steeped or brewed into a tea. In whatever form prepared it produces the same effects.

Avery Returns From Missouri River Meeting

Chancellor Samuel Avery of the University of Nebraska returned Wednesday morning from Kansas City where he attended the Missouri river navigation conference.

"It was a very effective convention, with a large delegation from every interested state," the chancellor said. "Chairman Weaver of Nebraska, who presided, handled the affairs most expeditiously and Regent Warner took an active part in the proceedings. It was brought out at the conference that if barges could be loaded for grain shipments at Omaha, it would save Nebraska farmers 7 cents a bushel over the present railroad rates.

"Herbert Hoover's address was the high point of the convention. It was a scholarly analysis of the situation, devoid of politics."

Pneumonia Fatal To I. W. Rockey

News of the death of I. W. Rockey, formerly of Lincoln, has been received by friends here. Mr. and Mrs. Rockey moved to Chicago last August where he was connected with a New York insurance company. Mr. Rockey had been ill with pneumonia but his condition was not considered serious.

Mrs. Rockey will be remembered by her many friends as Madame Gilderoy Scott.

WORKS ON ANGLE PARKING MEASURE

Duncan Starts Men Marking "Stalls," Anticipating Passage of Bill.

A resolution extending the congested area and the streets on which automobiles may be parked at an angle will be presented by Commissioner Duncan to the city council Monday. It will make no change in the time cars may be parked on the streets designated.

Anticipating the approval of the resolution Mr. Duncan Wednesday morning had men marking "stalls" so there will be no question about the angle.

Under existing laws the congested area embraced O street from Seventh to Seventeenth street and on these numbered streets from M to Q The new district will include the following streets:

O street from Eighth to Twenty-seventh

N street from Eighth to Nineteenth, except the south side between Fifteenth and Sixteenth, along the McKinley school grounds.

M street from Eighth to Sixteenth, except along the McKinley school grounds.

P street from Seventh to the Rock Island depot.

Q street from Seventh to Sixteenth

Eighth and Ninth streets from L to R, Tenth, J to R; Eleventh, J to Q on both sides, and to R on the east side; Twelfth, J to T; Thirteenth, J to R; Fourteenth, M to R; Fifteenth, O to K, with center parking between N and O and no parking along the McKinley school; Sixteenth, J to R, except in front of the McKinley school; Seventeenth, N to O

All streets not marked for angle parking will be outside the congested district and cars must be parked parallel with the curb.

At an informal meeting of the council Wednesday morning problems connected with the safety signs at school house intersections were discussed and notice sent to the board of education that the hours designated in the ordinance were not being complied with.

Police Chief Peter Johnstone said after the conference that persons wishing to make a turn at any of these signs must pass around them "instead of cutting to the outside."

Trial In Barrett Will Contest Is Begun Wednesday

Trial was begun before Judge Fred Shepherd and a jury in District court Wednesday morning of the contest over the will of Mary Barrett of Agnew, who died last January leaving an estate consisting chiefly of 800 acres of Lancaster county land, value at approximately $120,000 The chief beneficiary is William Barrett, brother of decedent and the will is attacked by the other brothers and sisters and heirs at law

Miss Barrett, in her will, which was executed on January 4, 1912, left numerous legacies, ranging in amounts from $100 to $5,000, remembering all of her immediate relatives in this manner, as well as the bishop of the Catholic diocese of Lincoln. The residue of the estate was devised and bequeated to the brother, William Barrett.

In the objections filed by the relatives to the admission of the will to probate they allege that the testator did not know the extent of her property, nor the natural objects of her bounty She was lacking in capacity to make a will, they declare, and had been subject to undue influence upon the part of William Barrett.

Mary Barrett was for many years housekeeper for Father Murphy, who was killed in an automobile accident in Seward county, she being with him at the time.

Neihardt Speaks At Convocation

"Poetic Values and Our Need of Them" was the theme of John G. Neihardt, poet laureate of Nebraska, in his address at the university convocation Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock at the Temple theater. Dean L. A Sherman of the graduate college introduced the speaker.

The popular saying that "it's more truth than poetry," was objected to by Mr. Neihardt on the ground that poetry is truth and not imaginary. He declared false the belief that poetry creates an imaginary channel into which a person may escape for relaxation.

"The age in which we live is one in which we guess and grasp in the dark for truth and our last guess is the form which we worship; that is, until some other truth replaces it. This is the method of mass consciousness," asserted Mr Neihardt. "And it is an age in which money-getting takes on the characteristics of fanatical worship Truth is where one's treasure is There is one's heart, and where one's heart is there is religion"

TONIGHT

LOUIS GRAVEURE

World famous baritone, Great Artist Series.

"Topsy and Eva" Coming to the Orpheum Monday and Tuesday.

Roy Stromgren who plays the part of George Shelby with Marvell and Thelma White in the Duncan Sisters' famous musical comedy, "Topsy and Eva," coming to the Orpheum next Monday and Tuesday is a native son of Norway. He is a gifted musician and a polished actor as all who have seen his splendid performance will testify. He is more than that, however. In him, the ancient blood of his Viking forefathers has not grown cold.

He was at one time playing in New York state and was the only Norseman in the company One evening a number of members of the company got to talking about this thing and that in the wings between their appearances on the stage, and one of them remarked that these are the days of iron ships and wooden men," that the days of wooden ships and iron men are over Stromgren said he didn't believe it. He insisted that the men of today are as courageous and as equal to high adventure as their forefathers Whereupon, one of the company turned to him and said, "It is about as far from Erie, Pennsylvania, which is our next date, to Duluth, Minn, by way of the Great Lakes, as it is from the coast of Norway to the coast of Newfoundland. Your ancestors made that trip in boats with a single sail apiece. Would you dare make the trip in an open boat from Erie to Duluth, staying on open water and not coming to land?"

Stromgren said he would Other members of the company pooled a bet of a thousand dollars that he would not He took the bet and when they reached Erie, handed in his notice, got an ordinary rowboat which he rigged out with leeboards and a lateen sail, and set forth. One month later he wired the company from Duluth. He had made the trip Moreover he liked Duluth so much that he decided to make his home there. His family is now living in Duluth.

He made the trip from Erie to Duluth without once stopping for food and shelter On the way he encountered several strong gales and one severe storm on Lake Superior.

CHALLENGES MINE OWNERS TO START A LIBEL ACTION

John L. Lewis Invites Suit Attacking Veracity Of Speeches.

Renews Charge Anthracite Operators Sold Misrepresented Product.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 21.—(By the Associated Press.) — John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers Tuesday challenged the anthracite operators to sue him for libel.

"Such a suit, I am sure," said Mr. Lewis, "would be highly interesting to the American people and would be extremely illuminating with respect to their meagre knowledge of the commercial practices of the anthracite operators."

The challenge was the result of two recent speeches. One was by Mr. Lewis at the American Federation of Labor convention at Atlantic City, October 14, in which he said that the operators were extorting from the public sixteen to twenty millions annually to which they had no decent claim. He also said that since 1870, the anthracite industry had "butchered 1,250,000 of our people."

Reply to Warriner.

The other speech was a reply by Samuel D. Warriner, chairman of the anthracite operators' conference at the Pennsylvania state chamber of commerce, meeting in Harrisburg, Oct. 15, in which he characterized Mr. Lewis' remarks as "astonishing" and "so far removed from the truth as to approach libel and actual falsehood."

Mr. Lewis' challenge was contained in a letter to Mr. Warriner under Tuesday's date.

"According to press reports, you took umbrage at the statements contained in my address to the convention of the American Federation of Labor," Mr. Lewis wrote, "and asserted that my words were 'so far removed from the truth as to approach libel and actual falsehood.' This peevish statement from you was evidently intended as a reply to the charge which I made that the anthracite operators were selling steam size coal to the consuming public at domestic size prices and were thereby profiting at the rate of millions of dollars per annum.

Renews Statement.

"I desire sir, to renew that statement in this formal manner, and I challenge the anthracite operators to institute proceedings for libel. I consider that such an action would be an excellent manner for anthracite consuming public to be enabled to determine the question of veracity now raised between us.

"Such a suit would enable me to present the sworn testimony of the colliery coal inspectors employed by the anthracite operators and to bring into court for the first time the books and records of the ten anthracite companies, which would clearly reveal their amazing profits throughout the before-mentioned practice and the sale of their adulterated product."

Alleges Mis-Statements.

"Among the several mis-statements of fact, which you made in your chamber of commerce address, I consider there is but one more worthy of comment," Mr. Lewis wrote. "I refer to your statement that the 'union leaders have violated their trusteeship in the interests of the anthracite mine workers.'

"Neither you, sir, nor any other coal operator can say such a thing to me and remain unrebuked. Your charge constitutes gratuitous prevarication. The leaders of the anthracite mine workers are responsible to their membership for the honor of their acts and by no stretch of the imagination can you be permitted to set yourself up as their model guide and philosopher."

Episcopal Budget Is Given Approval By The Bishops

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—Washington, D. C., was named as the meeting place of the forty-eighth triennial general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church by the house of bishops yesterday. The date will be October 11.

Adoption of the budget by the bishops, as approved by the deputies, disposed of one of the more important items left for the last week of the general convention. The total to be raised by quotas remained at $3,510,000 each year for the next three years.

The Right Rev. John Murray, newly elected presiding bishop, was formally presented to the house of deputies Tuesday.

Declaring that "vast numbers of Christians both of our own and other communions are in serious distress, perplexity and doubt as to their Christian duty in relation to the problems of war," the Right Rev. Charles H. Brent proposed a resolution in the house of bishops for a committee to study the question.

The resolution was unanimously adopted by the bishops who ordered appointment of a committee of five bishops charged with the task.

WASHINGTON — The degree of doctor of laws was conferred by George Washington university Tuesday upon Frank B. Noyes, president of the Associated Press.

REPEAT CHARGES OF CREW'S PANIC

Passengers Testify Sailors Of Burned Comanche Drunk and Unruly.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—Sensational charges tending to corroborate statements in New York by passengers of the Comanche, which burned last Saturday night off Mayport, were made by three passengers testifying before a court of investigation here Tuesday afternoon.

The court was called by Gen. Geo. Upler, supervising inspector general, and Capt. George Harney, supervisor of the Third district United States steamboat inspection service. Capt. E. E. Curry of the Comanche, at the morning session, denied statements that the crew acted in an unseamanlike manner and that members of the crew were drunk and panicky during the fire.

The three passengers were Fred Rau of Paterson, N. J., and Adolph Jachnoke and Bertal D. Mayer, both of Jacksonville.

Charges that "whisky bottles flashed" following the discovery of the fire, that some of the crew in lowering and getting the life boats from the Comanche did not obey orders and that crew members in the boat in which he escaped fought among themselves were made by Rau. He charged that the operators of the life boat did not know where the signal flares were kept. He said his was the next to the last boat to leave from his side of the Comanche and that its passengers were picked up by a sailing boat.

Jachnoke and Mayer, young sailors, both testified there seemed to be no panic among the passengers. Both of them in testimony declared they saw no officers and that negroes were in charge of the lowering of the boats.

Wymore to Have A Juvenile Band

(Special to the Star.)

WYMORE, Neb., Oct. 21.—A juvenile band is to be organized in Wymore with L. F. Hohensee, editor of the Wymore Arbor state, as leader and instructor. A meeting will be held Friday evening to perfect arrangements, and it is expected to secure 20 to 24 players and to have a well drilled band by spring. Hohensee was leader of the Wymore band in all concerts on the streets this summer.

Ryan, chancellor of the diocese, goes with him.

MELLON OFFERS NEW SCHEDULE

Suggests Set Tax Rates With Repeal of Earned Income Reduction.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—A new schedule of normal tax rates, differing materially from that presented Monday and contemplating the repeal of earned income provision of the existing law, was transmitted Tuesday to the house ways and means committee by the treasury.

The committee now is informed that the rate on which the treasury's estimate of $140,000,000 cut in the income tax revenue was based are 1 per cent on the first $3,000; 3 per cent on the next $4,000 and 5 per cent on all over $7,000. This compares with the rates given Monday of 1½ per cent on the first $4,000; 4 per cent $4,000 to $8,000, and 5 per cent on all over $8,000.

The surtax rates proposed would begin at 1 per cent on sums between $13,000 and $15,000, and go up gradually to 20 per cent on all over $150,000. The surtax rates as set out in the scheme are:

One per cent, $13,000 to $15,000.
Two per cent, $15,000 to $17,000.
Three per cent, 17,000 to $19,000.
Four per cent, $19,000 to $21,000.
Five per cent, $21,000 to $23,000
Six per cent, $23,000 to $25,000.
Seven per cent, $25,000 to $30,000.
Eight per cent, $30,000 to $35,000.
Nine per cent, $35,000 to $40,000.
Ten per cent, $40,000 to $45,000.
Eleven per cent, $45,000 to $50,000.
Twelve per cent, $50,000 to $60,000.
Thirteen per cent, $60,000 to $70,000.
Fourteen per cent, $70,000 to $80,000.
Fifteen per cent, $80,000 to $90,000.
Sixteen per cent, $90,000 to $100,000.
Seventeen per cent, $100,000 to $110,000.
Eighteen per cent, $110,000 to $125,000.
Nineteen per cent, $125,000 to $150,000.
Twenty per cent, all over $150,000.

After hearing Secretary Mellon and other treasury officials Monday members of the committee were under the impression that there was no proposal for repeal of the provisions on which a 25 per cent reduction in tax is allowed on earned income up to $10,000.

Some of them said after a hasty review of the schedule submitted Tuesday that repeal of this provision would meet with little support in congress.

$440,000 Liquor Cargo Is Seized By Coast Guards

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Venturing into the well patrolled waters where rum row once flourished the wooden steamer Corona, manned by a crew of twenty-two men, most of them said to be drunk, and carrying a $440,000 liquor cargo, was seized by seven coast guardsmen and brought here Tuesday.

The vessel, previously suspected as a rum runner was sighted forty-five miles off Atlantic City Monday by Coast guard patrol boat 113, commanded by Boatswain M. D. Jester. Boarding her with six men he found alleged liquor in the hold and forced the crew to proceed towards New York until two other coast guard boats came up.

When the ship was seized her papers were destroyed and as a result the identity of the owners of the vessel and the cargo could not be learned.

MASONS HONOR 9 LINCOLN MEN

Four Receive Thirty-third Degree, Five K. C. C. H. at Washington Meeting.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—The supreme council of the Scottish Rites Free Masonry southern jurisdiction in biennial session here last Tuesday announced its list of honors of those chosen for the Thirty-third degree and for Knight commander of the court of honor, conferred on Masons in the thirty-three states and foreign countries comprising the jurisdiction, for meritorious services, to the order.

Says Italy Will Pay Debt to U. S.

The following telegram was received by the Lincoln Star from Senor Demartino, Italian ambassador to the United States:

"Washington, D. C., Oct. 20.—Professor Barnes statement published in your paper that Italy has no intention of paying her debt to the United States is quite incorrect. There is no single act on the part of Italian government which could justify such an interpretation. The Italian who stated the problem to Mr. Barnes is certainly a man of no importance or responsibility. Italy is grateful to this country for her help during the war and will repay her debt on the basis of capacity to pay which is the principle laid down by the American government.

Lions Hosts to Albion Teachers

(Special to The Star.)

ALBION, Neb., Oct. 21.—The Albion Lions club was host to the faculty of the Albion schools at a reception and banquet Monday evening. With the ladies and guests about 100 sat down to an elegant supper served by the ladies of the M. E. church. An appropriate program followed the banquet. A quartet from the Fullerton Lions club furnished some enjoyable music. This is an annual event of the Albion Lions.

Wilson Speaks to Reserve Officers On Peace Efforts

H. H. Wilson spoke Tuesday night before the Lancaster County Reserve Officers association at the Grand hotel on "International Relations," tracing the recent developments in the efforts of the world to outlaw war.

He pointed out the Geneva protocol, of 1924, the appointment of a commission to codify international law and the recent security pact signed recently at Locarno as the three most important steps which have been taken since the close of the world war.

He was severe in his criticism of a pledge which is reported to be in process of circulation among young people of the land urging them not to bear arms in any event because of religious scruples.

Mrs. Lenore Burkett VanKirk, accompanied by Miss Hilda Chowins gave several vocal selections and the Waite-Mossholder-Tyler instrumental trio gave a brief program.

The remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

Col. C. J. Frankforter presided.

ELECT LAYMAN AS MODERATOR

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—For the first time in years the national council of Congregational churches, which began a nine day meeting yesterday, elected a layman as moderator, Frank I. Harwood of Appleton, Wis.

The election, which was marked by several contests, preceded a night session at which President Coolidge, in an address, pointed to the influences of religion as the only "adequate remedy for the evils which beset society."

Mr. Harwood was elected over three clergymen, receiving 195 out of 448 votes cast, and the Rev. Dr. Dan F. Bradley, who was second with 131 votes, was made first assistant moderator.

Mrs. E. A. Osborason of Illinois, then was nominated for the post of second assistant moderator, but this was promptly countered with the nomination of the Rev. William L. Cash, negro of New Orleans, whose supporters contended for continuation of customs of giving this office to members of his race. He was elected by a vote of 322 to 128.

Science gives new-laid quality Eggs at moderate price

SCIENCE has banished your egg problems! You may now enjoy at any season, eggs comparable to those you might gather from the nest—and at reasonable prices.

For years biologists have known that air deteriorates eggs—that if the thousands of pores in the shells could be made air-tight, eggs would retain their original new-laid quality almost indefinitely. It was not until Mr. Victor Clairemont, eminent Chicago biologist, recently made his startling discovery that the sealing of eggs has been successful.

The shells of Mozer Eggs are air-tight, sealed by an invisible coating soon after taken from the nest. Odors and bacteria are sealed out. The original goodness and nutrition are sealed in—no loss of weight due to shrinkage. Sweet natural flavor; firm golden yolks, immaculate whites. Each egg is guaranteed to be of new-laid quality.

Take no more chances on Winter eggs. Mozer Air-tite Eggs sell for much less than "store fresh" eggs; and are preferred for boiling, frying or poaching. Try them!

Every Carton Bears this Blue Seal—Your Protection

Only authorized packers distribute Mozer Air-tite Eggs. Refuse eggs in cartons that do not bear this seal.

In addition to the shell being air-tight, Mozer Air tite Eggs are cold-stored as a further protection against heat. These precautions are taken to preserve the new-laid quality for you.

Is Uric Acid Your Trouble?

This Subtle Body Poison is the Cause of Much Mysterious Sickness

LEADING medical writers agree that excess uric acid is the cause of much present day sickness. This insidious body-poison is being constantly created from the food we eat. Under the hurry, worry and strain of modern life its production is greatly increased.

Kidneys that function normally filter off the uric acid and prevent an excess. But sluggish kidneys allow an over-plus of uric acid to remain in the blood and to upset the system.

This body-created poison makes known its presence in many unpleasant ways:

One is always tired, feels nervous and dispirited. There's soreness and stiffness, backache, dizziness and rheumatic pains. The kidney action is apt to be irregular and disturbing at night.

If uric acid is your trouble, don't neglect it. Eat sparingly of the red meats, drink more water, avoid undue fatigue and help your sluggish kidneys with Doan's Pills. Doan's are recommended the world over.

Ask your neighbor!

"Use Doan's," Say These Lincoln People:

C. I. Thomas, barber, 604 West 18th St., says: "The kidney secretions passed too often and contained sediment. My back became so weak, I couldn't stand long at a time without getting entirely exhausted. A dull, gnawing ache across my back worried me constantly and made me nervous. I felt tired and lacked ambition, too. After using one box of Doan's Pills, I was entirely cured and I haven't had a sign of the trouble since."

Mrs. A. C. Hunt, 2251 S. 10th St., says: "I suffered from a lameness across my back and when I stooped, sharp pains darted through my kidneys. My back became so weak that housework was a burden to me and I felt all tired out. Headaches were frequent and I had terrible dizzy spells and became nervous, too. My kidneys failed to act properly and this annoyed me. Doan's Pills fixed me up fine."

THE NEW ARMY CHIEFS.

Within a week after his appointment as secretary of war, Dwight F. Davis announces a sweeping change in the policy of administration. He authorizes the announcement that he and his assistant will be responsible for the strict application of the budget system to the affairs of his department, leaving the general staff free to concern itself solely with the problems of a military character.

The innovation is of far greater consequence than first appears.

It is not a matter of criticism to point out that heretofore the apportionment of appropriations and the problems of finance have been of as great if not greater concern to the general staff than the strict science of warfare. The army chieftains have found that a great portion of their time was consumed with matters extraneous from the immediate task at hand.

Both Secretary Davis, and his newly appointed assistant, Hanford MacNider, are veterans of the World war. They served conspicuously in the greatest of all modern struggles, and retired from the army with the rank of colonels. They are the first soldiers since the day of General Sherman to occupy the supreme post in the War department. Since Grant named Sherman as secretary of war in 1869, no soldier has filled that post. Ordinarily its affairs have been handled by lawyers—Taft, Wright, Dickinson, Stimson, Garrison and Baker, with an occasional variance to the business man's type.

Neither Davis nor MacNider can be classed as the professional soldier. They came into the army in the great crisis from civilian ranks. But their experiences qualified them to an exceptional degree to interpret the soldier's life and to understand the army's point of view.

In another way the elevation of these men to the posts of highest responsibility raises an interesting question. It has long been the complaint that affairs of the army have been too much under the domination of West Point. So long as the nation maintains its training school for the army, it would seem logical and proper that the ideas which promulgate its policies should also find predominance in the War department. But Mr. Davis and Mr. MacNider both came into the army from civilian life. Doubtless they have their own views and their own opinions on discipline and on other matters of a military nature.

Secretary Davis was acclimated for the work which he now takes up by serving as assistant to John W. Weeks. He has already given proof of his capacity and self-reliance to serve. Equally well-fitted is Colonel MacNider, who served as national commander of the American Legion.

It is a matter of congratulation that the important responsibilities of the War department have been entrusted to these two men. If Secretary Davis' first official act is an indication of the sort of administration that is to be expected, then it is safe to say that the office will receive the intelligent direction resulting from a thorough knowledge of its needs.

NO QUICKSILVER GOLD.

We are not to have cheap gold; not for some time, at any rate. A year ago the scientific world, as well as the financial, was startled at the announcement from Germany that Prof. Adolphe Miethe of the Charlottenburg Technical college had succeeded in transmuting mercury into gold and all sorts of terrible consequences were pictured as liable to result should it be demonstrated that the metal upon which all value is based should be cheapened by a process promising an unlimited supply.

The Scientific American publishers, sensing the importance from every viewpoint, of ascertaining the truth or falsity of the report, immediately took steps to have the matter thoughly tried out. Arrangements were made with Prof. H. H. Sheldon, chairman of the department of physics of Washington Square college of New York university to have experiments carried on there. These were conducted by Roger S. Estey, as physicist and research investigator of high standing and have been going on ever since. Now it is announced that the results have been entirely negative. No gold whatever was obtained.

It was stated by Prof. Miethe that he had exposed for several hours a quantity of pure mercury to the action of an intense electric arc inside a vessel of quartz and as a result obtained a very small quantity of gold. It was supposed that the action of the electricity under the circumstances might have changed the atomic structure of the mercury, an extra electron being introduced into the nucleus of the atom of mercury. This, it was thought, would make the resulting atom one of gold rather than of mercury.

Prof. Estey carried on the experiments exactly as they were said to have been carried on by Prof. Miethe, even sending to Germany and obtaining an exact replica of the lamp which he had used, after it was found that one which had been constructed under the direction of the American experimenters had failed to produce the results sought. Still there was no gold. Many runs were made and the exact formula prescribed by the German scientist was followed and the scientists were finally compelled to abandon the attempt.

It is now believed that there must have been minute quantities of gold in the mercury used by Prof. Miethe, or about some of the apparatus used. The American scientists took every precaution to avoid anything of this kind, the mercury being obtained from a source which would preclude the presence of gold and afterwards being redistilled under vacuum. It was then carefully analyzed and no trace of gold found. Neither was there any such after the experiments had been made.

So there is to be no synthetic gold until some other process is discovered, and probably everybody is just as well satisfied.

WATERWAY PROSPECT BRIGHTENS.

At last, it begins to look as though a really formidable movement had been started for the purpose of getting favorable action by congress on the deepening of the Missouri river channel and thus opening up a water transportation route for the agricultural products of Nebraska and its neighbor states. The conference held at Kansas City this week will serve to concentrate all efforts in that direction.

Nebraska is gratified in the fact that Arthur J. Weaver of Falls City was elected to preside as chairman of the gathering. This was a graceful recognition of the Cornhusker state's interest in the project. There had been some apprehension that Kansas City and other localities situated on the lower river were merely working for a waterway development that would take care of themselves and after getting it, would leave the territory farther upstream to fight its own battle. That impression has been very effectively dissipated. The organization which was formed is definitely pledged to support the program as a whole.

By sending a large delegation to the conference and furnishing a man of Mr. Weaver's calibre to direct its deliberations, Nebraska placed itself in an influential position. The Nebraskans made it plain that this state means business and that its people will do everything in their power to push the waterway enterprise to a successful conclusion.

Now that such a good beginning has been made, interest in the undertaking should not lag. The subject of making the Missouri river navigable ought to be presented at every large gathering held by agricultural and commercial organizations by someone who has his heart in it, and their active support should be enlisted.

One of the suggestions made at Kansas City by a United States senator carries the keynote as to what policy ought to be pursued in securing the necessary congressional appropriations. He declared that western senators and congressmen must join hands and work unitedly to that end if the desired object is to be attained. The warning was coupled with this advice that "if you let the east get what it wants first, you will not get anything."

That is something well worth remembering. In the past, some of our Nebraska statesmen have been too prone to vote for high tariffs and other things in which the east was interested, merely to keep themselves in good standing with the powers that be in Washington, in return for patronage. It is time to abandon that sort of thing and begin to fight for what concerns the vital interests of Nebraska.

Missouri river improvement will be more beneficial to Nebraska than anything else that has happened during the last half century. It will mean a saving of many millions of dollars each year in transportation charges, enabling the farmers and live stock growers to secure more equitable prices for their products. The scheme is entirely practicable, and nothing can stop it if the western states pursue the project in a vigorous way.

INDIANA'S NEW SENATOR.

Announcement of the appointment of Arthur R Robinson, an Indianapolis attorney, to the vacancy in the United States senate resulting from the death of Samuel Ralston, is of greater significance than appears on the surface. It is in the senate where President Coolidge has experienced his trouble. In a larger measure than his predecessor, the late Warren Harding, Mr. Coolidge has been without leadership upon which he could depend. As a result he has lost fight after fight and has failed to secure approval of legislation which he wanted more often than any president since the days of Grover Cleveland.

Senator Ralston was a democrat.

His political views were usually in wide variance to the president's policy. It would have been possible through careful selection to have picked a strong and valiant defender to replace a resourceful antagonist. Such a man was ex-Senator Beveridge, who was favored for appointment. But Beveridge had been identified with the factional differences which had been so pronounced in Indiana republicanism. So in spite of his acknowledged abilities as a student of government and a great orator, he was passed over for a man little known outside the boundaries of his own state. The choice of Beveridge would have brought to the senate a man of national standing, a capable leader excellently equipped to have carried the brunt of the fight which the president is expected to encounter in his recommendations with respect to tax reduction and American participation in the world court.

Senator Borah is nominally the president's spokesman in the senate.

How widely he differs with the occupant of the White House on many questions is indicated by Mr. Borah's attack on the world court Tuesday night. The president is committed, heart and soul, to American participation. Yet Mr. Borah renewed the objections which he has voiced so long and so effectively, thus definitely indicating that he would still be found in opposition to Mr. Coolidge on this question. And then on the matter of tax reduction it is equally apparent that the Idaho statesmen will be unwilling to go as far as the president in apportioning the cut to those of larger incomes.

While the election of Mr. Robinson undoubtedly will give the administration another vote, it will not supply the great need of providing Mr. Coolidge with a spokesmen of ability to defend the President's policies in and out of season. That is the weakness of the president's case with respect to the United States senate.

THE SUGAR BEET INDUSTRY.

The growing importance of the sugar beet industry in Nebraska is emphasized in the apparently authenticated statement that three new factories will be constructed in the western counties next spring, to be completed in time to handle next year's crop.

Minatare and Lyman are said to be two of the towns selected for factories.

The first available records on sugar production in Nebraska go back but twenty years. In 1904 the total acreage was 13,100. In 1909 the crop was valued at $179,593. In 1915, the acreage devoted to sugar beets had increased to 25,700, with a total production of 298,000 tons, valued at $1,665,000. A year ago the farmers of western Nebraska planted 65,000 acres to sugar beets, producing a crop of 766,000 tons, valued at $4,979,000. In the season that has just closed, the acreage was considerably increased and the yield the highest that was ever had.

At this time when efforts are being put forth to diversify the agricultural efforts of Nebraska, it would appear that the sugar beet production in the western counties had solved the problem there.

More Truth Than Poetry

A NOBLE AMBITION.

I'd like to be a dentist, and I'd like to have the tough
The big and brutal fellow who is riotous and rough
Who bullies weaker people in my chair—
With a solid mass of bone beneath his hair—
The chap who pulls the beak
Of the small man who is meek,
Oh, I'd like to give him all that he could bear.
Another irksome fool on whom I'd like to operate
Is the chap who hangs around to snoop and pry,
Whose presence is offensive, whose impertinence is great,
Who is always asking how and when and why;
Who wants to know your age,
And your plans, and weekly wage—
Oh, I'd like to make him wince and squirm and sigh!
I should like to do some boring in his teeth who boasts that he
The fool who says he never has learned what it is to be Wouldn't fear to meet the devil in the night—
The luckless dog that's under in a fight;
Oh' I'd like to prod and bore
Till I made him writhe and roar,
And I'd notice his contortions with delight.
I'd like to be a dentist and be treating him who makes
His profits out of work that children do;
It would be a holy pleasure to contribute to his aches,
To watch him while the drill was breaking through;
I should like to see the tears
Dripping from his jowls and ears,
And I'd find it sweet to overcharge him, too.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children"

GET-THIN-QUICK SCHEMES.

There are probably millions of sufferers from overweight in the United States and there isn't one among this number who has not the desire to reduce. Capitalizing this knowledge, and the fact that dieting and exercising to reduce are looked upon as hardships, unscrupulous concerns are putting on the market certain "reducing" creams, lotions and salts for external application.

They make alluring statements in blatant advertisements that if you will use their preparatios they will slenderize you, melt you, or reduce you without any effort on your part except the mere application of their product. Compound figures astoundingly fat women with inner slender, beautifully formed outlines are shown indicating what will happen under the treatment. Glowing testimonies and enticing promises leap at you lovingly from the pages.

I don't think there are many people who believe these fascinating claims: "Do you want to be slender and beautiful as a girl—rub this on a few minutes in the morning—rub that on a few minutes at night—eat what you want—no arduous exercises—get thin quick!" No, I don't believe enough people believe these things, and I am going to astound you by telling you that they are true. Absolutely! You will get thin if you follow their directions. The directions, however, do not appear in the advertisements. You will see why when I quote from a pamphlet which you get you buy one of the best advertised. Here it is. Read it carefully:

Of course you cannot expect to reduce if you put in the inside what yau take off outside (!) It is therefore necessary that you eliminate sweets and starches from your diet."

Isn't that snappy and illuminating? Read on for further enlightment:

"Exercise in addition to using—(our product)—is most helpful and adds to your reduction and general health."

But listen, my dear followers, again I quote:

"Your first jar will not produce miracles, especially if your resisting powers are very strong. However you will see a decided and more rapid improvement with each jar."

This little addition keeps you hoping and, what is more to their point, keeps you hopping with the cash.

Of course you understand these directions are not given in the advertisement. Oh, no! Nor do the labels on the jars tell you that these products will reduce you. Do you know why? Because if this statement were to appear on the labels the manufacturers would be arrested for violating the National Pure Fod and Drug Act which prohibits fraudulent claims on labels. And if these directions are not given—and taken—the product is useless for there is nothing that is rubbed on the skin that will reduce you. Nor is there anything to use in your bath that will reduce you. If there were reducing drugs powerful enough to be absorbed through the skin can't you see how dangerous they would be?

One of these fake preparations was analyzed in the laboratories of the American Medical association and found to be oil of turpentine, acetic acid, water, casein, (protein part of milk) and perfume. A few cents worth of vinegar, cottage cheese and turpentine would have the same effect, which is no effect, as their $5 jars.

Now let me repeat: these things will not reduce you. But they may irritate the skin. There are only three ways to reduce without harm to your health: first, to increase your activities sufficiently so that the diet you are consuming will not supply your energy needs and your stored fat will be called upon; second, to decrease your diet, taking sufficient to supply all the needs of the body except some of the energy needs and letting the stored fat supply that deficit; and the third, which is the best, a combination of these two.

You have already begun this method of reducing if you have joined our class.

Tomorrow—It Won't Be Any Easier Tomorrow!

My dear Followers:

When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a STAMPED, SELF-ADDRESSED envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose TEN cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, NOT OVER 200 WORDS, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the STAMPED, SELF-ADDRESSED ENVELOPE if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

If the breaks pile up against yuh, never whine,
If they've got yuh in a jam, an' yuh don't know
Where yuh stand, rear right up an' be a man,
Never whine!
Iy yuh wage a losin' battle, never whine,
If they kick yuh in the gutter, never whine,
If you're tangled up in grief, an' you're
Headin' for the reef, jist growl an' grit yore teeth,
Never whine!
If the world hauls off an' slaps yuh, never whine,
If they play yuh for a sucker, never whine,
If the future's black as night, an' yuh still Believe you're right, then take off yore coat an' fight,
Never whine!

My Mother's Prayers

I've been sitting here and thinking
Of the days so long gone bye,
When a child I used to wander
Underneath the clear, blue sky.

And my memory sometimes wanders
Back again to days of yore,
Of the time I used to squander
Just outside of mother's door.

Time is passing swiftly onward,
Cares and trouble passing by,
And tonight I see my mother
With a teardrop in her eye.

I can see her in my memory
Tho' some years have passed away,
Yes, she's grown some few years older,
Hair once brown, but now of gray.

Many prayers she's offered for me
That God might keep her boy from sin,
Bring him back again to Mother
Pure and spotless, white within.

Mother's prayers are always answered
They have never failed her yet,
Altho' I'm far away from Mother,
Her prayers I'll ne'er forget.

So I say, "God bless my Mother"
For her goodness to her boy,
And I hope we'll meet in heaven
In that land of light and joy."

The Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By Will Rogers

The worst story I heard today was told to me by George Jessell, the little Jewish comedian that has just made such a big hit in a new show in New York called the Jazz Singer. You all remember him from vaudeville, but he really "dramatizes" in this play.

The play is the story of a young Jewish boy who is a good singer and he sings in the synagague, but he gets a job on Broadway as a jazz singer. They claim it's the story of Jolson's or Eddie Cantor's life. Jolson says it's his life and Canter says it's his. Well, after he makes a big hit on Broadway the play goes that his people persuade him to give up all the salary and success and come back and be the singer in the synagogue again. It's fiction, but it's a good show.

Well Georgie, who I have known since he was a little kid in Gus Edwards act, told me the following:

A Jewish fellow at the seashore for the first time, had been advised by his doctor to bathe his feet every night in sea water and as he was going away a life guard says to him. "Ha, we charge 25 cents a bucket for that water."

The old fellow paid him, went home, did as advised, and the next day the puppies were better, so he got his bucket and started back.

When he got there the tide was out and the beach was nothing but sand. He said to the life guard. "Business is good, ain't it?"

I hit at Georgie as he run. If I could have reached him there would have been a dead dramatic comedian off Broadway.

In the Matter of Giving.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 21.

To the Editor of the Lincoln Star: I see in The Star that the employers of Lincoln have endorsed the community chest, not only for themselves, but also for the employes under them, and have fixed the amount they (the employes) are to give by deducting it from their paychecks. Now, of course, this is a recommendation which everyone will know is equivalent to a demand. The queries arise, Is the wage earner of Lincoln a slave or a free American citizen?" Is he to decide how much he can afford to give out of his income, which at best is a deprivation to his own family? Is he to decide to what he is to give? Is he to decide these things as a free American citizen, or is his employer or master to decide it for him?

The evidence of honest toil is, and should be, a badge of honor in this country, and any disposition on the part of the employer to dictate in the private affairs of his employes; to what they shall give, how much they shall give, and in what way they shall give, should be unpopular and frowned down in a country like ours.

Even if a man has horny hands and a tanned and furrowed face, through honest toil, and wears patched and soiled clothing, yet in the words of the immortal Bobbie Burns, "A man's a man for a' that." The writer would like to hear from others.

A WAGE EARNER.

You Can Write 10,000 Words with a Waterman's

Refill in 10 seconds and write 10,000 more. Only one second's time required for each 1,000 words you write. Word after word will flow freely from the smoothly-moving iridium point. It's a joy to use a Waterman's.

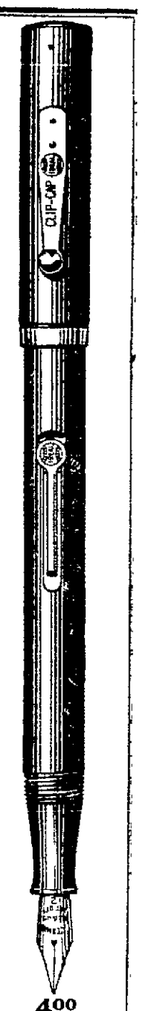

Waterman's Ideal Fountain Pen possesses two outstanding advantages: you can buy a pen with a holder that exactly fits your hand and a pen point that exactly suits your writing.

When you buy a Waterman's, economy does not affect quality. If it's a Waterman's it's as good as a pen can be made regardless of price.

Model illustrated costs $4.00. It is made with black, cardinal and mottled holders, with flexible spun metal lip-guard that protects the cap. It is a very popular size.

50,000 merchants sell Waterman's because they have given perfect satisfaction for more than 40 years.

Let Your Money Work for You Where You Can Watch It

The minute a citizen of Lincoln invests a dollar in this business he becomes part owner in something tangible that he can see, something that works day and night all the year around, in good times and in bad times.

When the sun goes down in the evening the electric lights go on just as surely as the rising again of the sun in the morning. The need for electric light is as certain as the darkness which comes every night. When you are a partner in this business the lights which you see go on at night are a part of the service your money has helped to make possible.

As regular as the need for light and just as important is the need for heat to cook our food and for use in the everyday operations of hundreds of factories.

The light, heat, and power necessary for our modern, everyday existence has become something which we take for granted like sunshine. Yet, the cornerstone of this great service is thrift.

Without the savings of thousands of thrifty investors, there would be no gas and electric plants, transmission and distribution lines, gas mains, offices, meters and all the equipment necessary for gas and electric service.

BEARS' STAR IN SUDDEN ECLIPSE

California's Victory String Right Well Broken By Olympic Club.

BY MILLER HOLLAND.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—(I. N. S.)—University of California's football luck this year has not been exactly of the horseshoe variety. Whereas in past seasons the Bears have had teams that swept everything before them in successive bursts of glory, things have not been so good in 1925.

The football gods apparently have tired of seeing California do nothing but win for five straight years and have decreed that Coach Andy Smith's wonders should get off the nigh horse for a while—which they ("the wonders") have done.

Bears Were Elated.

California got off to a running start this season by beating little Santa Clara, 28 to 0. The very next Saturday, Andy Smith's boys trimmed Nevada, 54 to 0, and the Bears decided they were good—about as good a bunch of football players as ever fumbled a ball. Hopes were high over on the Berkeley campus and there was talk of a sixth consecutive year without defeat.

But right here is where the powers on Mount Olympus decided that things had gone far enough. The Blue and Gold had been at the head of the mast long enough. It was time for a change—and the change came.

Then Came Rude Awakening.

The powerful eleven of the Olympic club of San Francisco, an aggregation made up of players who rank high in the football pantheon, entered the fray against California. California was flayed all right for the first time since late in 1919. The scoreboard read: California, 0; Olympic club, 15. It was the end of California's golden age in football.

A week later, last Saturday to be exact, the Bears staged a weak 6 to 0 come-back when they barely managed to defeat St. Mary's college of Oakland, a team known as "the Notre Dame of the West"—and well deserving the title.

Line Fails to Function.

Smith has been having some trouble in getting his line to function as a line should. Against weak opposition the Bears looked like a million dollars, but against the Olympic club and St. Mary's they looked like the reverse of a million—with the six zeros ahead of the one.

Why the Bears should not be as good as they were last year is hard to say. The team is virtually the same one as the 1924 varsity, with the exception of "Babe" Horrell, Horrell, Andy's all-American center, who was lost by graduation.

Smith's backfield is a fairly brilliant combination with such men as Imlay, Dixon, Griffen, Jabs, Young, Blewett and Carlson ready to pack the ball around. Imlay is one of California's star halfbacks. He is captain of the present Bear squad.

Good In Returning Punts.

Small in physique, but sturdy as a dozen marines, little Imlay's specialty is running back punts. Dixon and Griffen are spectacular backfield men, both of them playing at half. Jabs and Young are ground gaining fullbacks and splendid defensive players. Blewett and Carlson shine at quarter.

In the line, Rau at left guard, Carey at right guard, Sargent at left tackle and Mall and Huber at the end posts have been showing up quite to Andy Smith's satisfaction. All in all, California has a really good team, but not one that can compare with the great elevens of former years that once made the Blue and Gold famous throughout the land.

Wahoo Undefeated In Football Race

WAHOO, Neb., Oct. 21.—Wahoo high school is undefeated in the race for the 1925 Nebraska high school football championship. In the first game of the season, Wahoo turned in a 14 to 10 victory over West Point. Coach Miller's athletes then defeated Seward by a 39 to 6 margin and last Friday won a 9 to 7 victory at Stanton.

Outstanding men on the Wahoo team are E. and R. Cunningham and Captain Mays. The Wahoo schedule includes Fremont, Creighton Prep, David City, Havelock and Ashland.

Bluffs at North Platte.

NORTH PLATTE, Neb., Oct. 21.—North Platte and Scottsbluff, undefeated in the state high school football race, will meet here Friday afternoon. Coach Sid Hoadley's Scottsbluff team has defeated Kimball, Bayard and Morrill. Coach Harry McCandless' North Platte eleven has won over Farnam, Lexington, Kearney and Sidney.

Bridgeport Loses Man.

BRIDGEPORT, Neb., Oct. 21.—Jack Plummer of Bridgeport high received a broken nose in the game with Sidney last week and will be out of the game for some time. Sidney won by a 13 to 7 score. Plummer was the leading scorer in the Bridgeport backfield.

Racing will be resumed this winter at the Juarez track, which was closed in 1916 during the Mexican revolution.

"Tiny" Hewitt Does His Stuff

"TINY" HEWITT.

"Tiny" Hewitt, West Point fullback, who tips the scales around the 200 mark, is showing the best playing he has produced since he migrated from the University of Pittsburgh to the Army eleven. Last year too much weight kept him on the sidelines. But cutting out sweets and pastry, he has regained his old time speed. "Tiny" was at the fullback station for Pitt U, when the Nebraska Cornhuskers mauled the Panthers, 10 to 0, four years ago on the Pittsburgh gridiron. The Cornhuskers stopped him cold that particular day, but against Notre Dame last Saturday Hewitt was a star performer.

Dope-Slingers On Job; Picking Second Grange

BY JIMMY CORCORAN.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—(I. N. S.)—This business of writing about Mr. Grange's successor seems to be one of the favorite in-between pastimes this season.

Last week the athletes who whack the typing keys seized upon Nick Kutsch, the flying Dutchman of Iowa, as the youth who would supplant the iceman.

They played the ball game and when it was finished Grange was still Grange, the inimitable Grange. Kutsch had done his work and it was a commendable job, but even then the boys who sing the Iowa "corned" song in tenor, admitted that "Red" was supreme.

Sing Friedman's Praises.

For this weekend the rooters are singing out Benny Friedman, the fighting flash of the Wolverine eleven, as the boy to wobble in Grange's boots. Benny is great, no doubt about that, but few things are still standing in the way of his out-Harolding Harold.

Men who have seen both are of the opinion that Grange will have lost none of his prestige when the ball game is over. When Ohio State and Illinois mingle later in the season, Marek, another sophomore and compared and analyzed with Grange, will appear on the field with him. Bet a hat here that Grange doesn't lose any of the shine from his reputation.

Yost Ready to Act.

On the opening kick Saturday all eyes will be on Grange and you can wager that he will not tear off a touchdown from the kickoff as he did last year. If he gets through the whole Michigan line, Yost is going to dash right out on the field and knock the famed one for a loop.

The central portion of the Illini line was woefully weak last Saturday against the Hawkeyes. Zuppke has been concentrating around this section during the week and reports are not encouraging.

Michigan rooters at large are looking forward to a slant at "Bo" McMillan the bruising fullback that Yost posses. "Bo" has lived up to his prep school reputation and now seems slated for the conference spotlight.

Harry Greb of Pittsburgh, middleweight boxing champion, is reported eager to lock with welter champion, Mickey Walker, once again. The bout, if held, will be staged in the new Madison Square garden this winter.

The Mohardt who is playing in the Amherst backfield this season is a brother of Johnny, once of Notre Dame fame.

New York's boxing commission has decided that hereafter when a boxer is knocked out of a ring he will be counted out unless he climbs back of his own free will. In case he is aided by those at the ringside, he will be disqualified.

Mr. Tuttle Sleeps Now —Gas is Gone

After taking only two doses of the mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine etc (known as Adlerika), J. S. Tuttle says that his indigestion and gas are gone and he gets a good night's sleep now.

Many people keep the OUTSIDE body clean but let their INSIDE body stay full of gas and poisons. Give the inside a REAL cleansing with the mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine etc., as sold under the name of Adlerika. This acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel, eliminates metabolic poisons and removes old matter which you never thought was in your system, and which caused sour stomach, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache, etc.

Whenever you eat too much heavy food it Adlerika REMOVE the undigested surplus and leave you feeling fine. ONE spoonful relieves GAS and takes away that full, bloated feeling. Even if your bowels move every day, Adlerika brings out much additional matter which might cause trouble. Don't waste time with pills or tablets but let "Adlerika give your stomach and bowels QUICK relief.

What Doctors Say

Dr. G. Eggers reports Adlerika is the best medicine he has used in 37 years.

Dr. W. H. Bernhart writes he could not get along in his practice without Adlerika.

Dr. J. J. Weaver, a doctor for 50 years, says he knows no medicine better than Adlerika.

Dr. L. Langlois prescribes Adlerika regularly with GOOD effect.

J. E. Puckett writes "After using Adlerika I feel better than for 20 years. AWFUL impurities were eliminated from my system."

Adlerika is a big surprise to people who have used only ordinary bowel and stomach medicines because of its REAL and quick action. Sold by leading druggists everywhere. In Lincoln by Harley Drug Co., other leading druggists.—Advertisement.

Worley-Evans In Red Cloud Ring

RED CLOUD, Neb., Oct. 21.—Red Cloud post of the American Legion, having obtained a state permit a few weeks ago to hold boxing and wrestling matches in this city, have arranged for several bouts to be held here Armistice day, Nov. 11, one of the headliners being a glove match between Kid Worley of Hastings and Rusty Evans of York. Both men are out to win the state light-weight championship. The Legion is making arrangements for a big celebration here November 11th, which will include a barbecue and the boxing matches in the local post's new quarters in the evening.

STAGG'S OUTFIT TO TACKLE PENN

Chicago Mentor Pointing His Gridders For Combat With Quakers.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—(AP)—The second eastern invasion of the University of Chicago football team in four years starts tomorrow with Coach Stagg and some 35 players leaving for Philadelphia to meet the Pennsylvania team Saturday.

Four years ago Chicago humbled Princeton on the Tigers' field, 9 to 0. Just 24 years ago, Chicago and Pennsylvania played the last of a four-game annual series, three of which went to the Quakers with the fourth a tie. Coach Stagg, the 63year-old dean of the "Big Ten" coaches, has pointed his team to the Penn game since the season began.

The Chicago team has scored but one touchdown this season to win two games and tie a third. There are ten players in the "Big Ten" who have scored as many or more points than the entire Maroon team so far this season. Yet the Stagg squad is in the thick of the fight for the conference title again, having been the only undefeated team in the conference last season. Penn was likewise undefeated in the east last year.

Tulane Plays Purple.

A tropical football team gets its first taste of cold weather football Saturday in the intersectional game between Tulane and Northwestern in Chicago. The Louisiana eleven boasts among its members an intercollegiate golf champion in Fred Lamprecht.

A confident Michigan team is polishing its effective strategy for the Illini, who, nettled by two defeats, are working strenuously to perfect more assistance for "Red" Grange.

Iowa is stressing kicking with "Cowboy Nick" Kutsch's toe bearing the brunt in its rehearsals for Ohio state, which is worried over injuries to Jenkins, big tackle, and several others.

The first stiff western opposition for Notre Dame is being marshalled at Minnesota.

Tom Hogan and Henry Mieran, guards, are back in Purdue's line for the Wisconsin game. The Badgers are improving their plunging attack.

PRIMING TIGERS TO BALK TRYON

Coach Bill Roper Is Tutoring Princeton For Conflict With Colgate.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Princeton, only member of the "Big Three" to escape last week's football landslide, goes forth to a new engagement next Saturday with greater confidence than can fall to either Harvard or Yale.

The Tigers' job is to spring upon the whirling, squirming Colgate captain, Eddie Tryon, one of the greatest broken field runners in the east. Tryon, after mad dashes through weaker elevens, managed to cross the Lafayette goal line only once a week ago, sufficient for a deadlock battle, and if Princeton is able to keep him in check the eleven of Bob Roper should win rather easily. Motion pictures are aiding the Tigers in development of interference and defense.

No Joy at Harvard.

But for Harvard there is little cheer. Dartmouth has trampled upon the Crimson colors for two successive years, during which the men of Cambridge have not scored. The recent defeat at the hands of Holy Cross has not been a cause for entertainment at Harvard.

Yale meets the Bears of Brown in the new stadium in Providence—a Brown team against which Pennsylvania could score but one touchdown.

Washington and Jefferson is ready to start from Pennsylvania for its annual setto with Lafayette at the Yankee stadium, and there are great hopes that the present eleven of the Presidents will be able to avenge in last season's defeat.

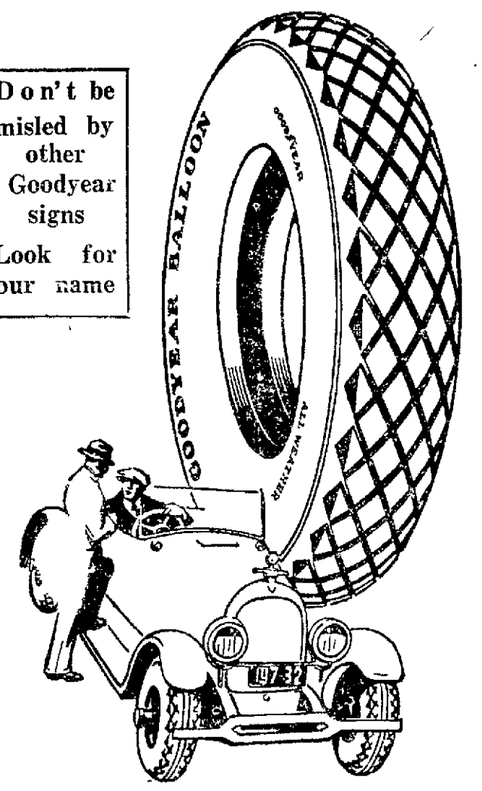

The feature intersectional clash of the day brings together Pennsylvania and Chicago at Philadelphia. The Quakers, fresh from victory over Yale, have been pitted against the westerners' formations this week. Victory in this contest and the one with Illinois the following week will go far toward proving or disproving Penn's national honors.

Plots to Beat Cornhuskers With Forward Passes

AERIAL OFFENSE ON KANSAS BOOK

Jayhawk Coaches Planning Use of Forward Pass Against Huskers.

Dopesters In Lawrence Camp Suggest Overhead Attack Main Reliance.

LAWRENCE, Kas., Oct. 21. — Cold and clear weather has arrived at the University of Kansas football camp and will prove of material aid in getting the Jayhawkers into shape for the tough battle coming next Saturday at Lincoln with the Nebraska Cornhuskers. Working conditions have been bad all season up to now, the weather being unusually hot in the early season and too rainy the last two weeks.

The sun shining through yesterday had the effect of dispelling the natural gloom of the sky and the gloom of depression over lost games and the practice was far peppier than any held for some weeks. All the squad got into scrimmage for a short time with the exception of several regulars who are still packing injuries. Captain Smith, Starr and Wall will get very little if any scrimmage work this week, for every effort is being made to get them in top form for the game with Nebraska.

Developing Passing Game.

The Tuesday scrimmage saw the varsity making headway against the freshmen, but not as consistently as is to be desired, and the whole practice gave the impression that the team still is lacking that driving, aggressive spirit necessary to make a showing against high class opponents. The forward passing game, which necessarily must be the main dependence of the Jayhawk against the better Nebraska line, was going fairly well and Coach Clark seems fortunate in having plenty of good passers and several dependable receivers.

Joe Anderson is working the quarterback position most regularly now and handles the team well, considering his brief apprenticeship at this berth. He is a good ball carrier and passer and his presence in the lineup gives the Kansas team another fair punter should he be needed.

Speed in Backfield.

Hart, Rooney, Hodges and Shannon have been used at backfield positions this week and all have speed which may earn them a chance to shine against Nebraska. Kansas, it is believed, will not make much bid to plug holes in the Nebraska forward wall. Mackie and Wall have shown fair ability to carry the ball through the line, but the Kansas forwards have not shown sufficient class as yet to warrant much hope in a test against such star linemen as Coach Bearg has at Lincoln.

NAME CHAMPIONS IN FIGHT CIRCLES

Heads of National Boxing Association Designate Title-Holders.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Champions in the eight major pugilistic classes were named by the national boxing association of the United States in concluding its sixth annual convention here today.

Decision of the association was based upon the report of a special committee composed of E. A. McAuley of Michigan; Louis W. Piles of Michigan, and Thomas E. Donohue of Connecticut. The champions include:

Jack Dempsey, heavyweight.
Paul Berlenbach, light-heavyweight.
Harry Greb, middleweight.
Mickey Walker, welterweight.
Jimmie Goodrich, lightweight.
Louis ("Kid") Kaplan, featherweight.
Phil Rosenburg, bantamweight.
Fidel Labarba, flyweight.

The association, numbering boxing commissioners and members in many states of the union, Canada and Mexico, ignored the claim of Pinkie Mitchell as junior welterweight champion.

"The commissioners of the organization have never recognized this special class," a member stated, "as the title-holder and class both were established by a popular voting contest and not by ring achievements. The commissioners took definite action, in that they ruled that Mitchell was eligible to fight in either the welterweight or the lightweight classes."

After consideration of the claims of contenders in the flyweight class, the association ruled in favor of Labarba, a California youth, who has defeated Frankie Genaro, claimant for the title.

Norfolk Hi Ready To File Bid For Northeast Honor

NORFOLK, Neb., Oct. 21.—Norfolk high school continues to look like the best bet for the northeast Nebraska high school championship. The team is experienced and heavier than the other elevens in this section.

Hartington defeated Scotland, S. D., last Friday but did not look as polished as last season. Ponca ran wild over Wayne, 92 to 0. Coach Peterson has a hard job ahead at Wayne this season. Captain Dennis, a heady quarter, is the only letter man on the squad and is forced to work behind the line that will not average over 125 pounds.

Lyons Victim of Upset.

Lyons was the victim of an upset last week, Oakland handing Lyons an 19-0 defeat, the first reverse of the season. Crofton finally hit its stride and drubbed Wausa, 59 to 0, while Verdigre was winning from Creighton. Laurel turned in a second victory over Coleridge and Newcastle repeated over Allen. Wahoo downed Stanton, Leigh trimmed Humphrey and Pierce drubbed Madison.

Undefeated teams in this section are Norfolk, Ponca, Randolph, Hartington, Tekamah and Newcastle.

Bearg Drilling Subs.

Development of Cornhusker substitutes, capable of stepping into the cleated shoes of crippled regulars, is the task confronting Head Coach Ernest Bearg and his lieutenants in preparing for next Saturday's joust with the Kansas Jayhawkers. The injury situation at Nebraska showed slight improvement Tuesday, as Stiner, tackle, and Pospisil, guard, were in suit, getting into the varsity lineup in a session of dummy scrimmage in which the Huskers worked both offensively and defensively on forward pass plays. Halfback Rhodes, another Nebraska cripple, also was in moleskins, but taking little part in the Tuesday proceedings.

Halfback Avard Mandery and Quarterback Bob Stephens are two first-stringers whose participation Saturday apparently is quite out of reason. Both were badly bunged up in the recent gruelling battle with the Washington Huskies. Mandery's injury, originally reported as involving his right lung, is a cracked rib.

Of the backfield subs in action Tuesday, the most promising showing was made by Glenn Presnell, former Dewitt high athlete, while Oehlrich, ex-Columbus high husky, encouraged the coaches to believe that when he acquires more speed in starting he may prove himself as varsity calibre. Presnell has both speed and the physique, his impressive performance Tuesday afternoon indicating that he may be in the starting lineup against K. U.

The scrimmage workout was confined almost entirely to a clash of varsity reserves versus freshmen, the latter making use of Kansas forward pass plays. The yearlings did their stuff in fancy fashion, romping down the field consistently on overhead flips and then plunging across the goal. Varsity regulars followed the play back of the freshman team, thus to study the Jayhawkers' passing attack.

Nebraska's scouts are a cheerful lot. Ex-Captain Bill Day, back from scanning the Kansas-Kansas Aggie clash at Lawrence, proclaimed that "Kansas is better than Missouri," while Bub Weller, who lamped the Sooners lick Drake at Norman, reported to Bearg that "Oklahoma is better than Missouri or Kansas." From which it would seem that the Cornhuskers will have just a plenty on their hands in tackling Kansas next Saturday and taking on Oklahoma the following week.

Iowa U. dope-heavers persist in referring to Nick Kutsch, latest Hawkeye grid sensation, as a "sophomore." Nick may be, and doubtless is, a "soph" at the Iowa institution, but not in football. The record shows that Nick had a full season of gridiron participation at Trinity college, Sioux City, Ia., prior to his matriculation at Iowa, all of which will slice one year from his athletic activities in "Big Ten" conference circles. Nick was in the Trinity lineup when the Sioux City collegians battled Nebraska Wesleyan in a game at University Place a few seasons back.

Copies of Seattle newspapers, received this week in Lincoln, proclaim that the Washington university Huskies have four married men in the varsity lineup. One of the Huskies, in fact, is the sire of two children. The Cornhuskers feel surer than ever that they went against an "experienced" team.

Weary of the Ballyhoo.

Bill Cunningham of the Boston Post is one who is getting sick and tired of the overplaying of the Notre Dame stuff. "Since the Four Horsemen quit galloping everything of merit by other teams goes to Rockne's credit," says Cunningham. Cunningham goes on to say:

"This Notre Dame thing is more serious than you think. This idea of shouting 'Notre Dame football' every time a team wins a game is likely to be carried entirely too far.

"All Notre Dame plays is football. All Rockne teaches is the same. Football is football at Notre Dame, Cornell, the Arizona Veterinary Institute or Tierra del Fuego. Rockne has simply had a bunch of bright and agile youngsters who sopped up his instruction and did as he said.

"There are other coaches in the business, too, you know. Given what Rockne has to work with in material and latitude they'd accomplish the same results. This is no slam at the Nire Dame coach. This reporter is one of his warmest admirers, but facts are facts and justice is justice. And it isn't fair to discount the other good coaches in the nation by charging them with plagiarism from one of their number every time their teams pull a game out of the flames.

"Rockne is a genius, and his teams are brilliant machines, but if Rockne's teams were not brilliant machines he'd be one of the poorest coaches in the business.

"Rockne has a lay-out at Notre Dame comparable to no other anywhere. He starts working on his lads in their teens, while they are in Notre Dame's subsidiary high school. He has right of way, even over his faculty in a pinch. If he wants to ordain football practice at 10 a. m., the story is that he can, get all classes dismissed at his order—or at least his players excused from attendance.

"Rockne holds year round practice at South Bend. When this season started he had a squad of 225 out for practice. Harvard had something like 75. Dartmouth about 50 and Yale 40. Before the Baylor game Rockne had seven full teams running signals on the field. He kept switching them so fast the referee needed a comptometer to keep track of them. Against Lombard, he used 69 players.

"That's his good luck and Notre Dame has every right to rear up on her hind legs and strut. But there's a Tad Jones, a Charley Daley, a Jess Hawley, a Gil Dobie, a Frank Cavanaugh, a Pop Warner and so forth and so on—still teaching a pretty fair brand of football. Don't be quite so precipitant in branding it 'Notre Dame' football' every time you see a new formation or a cleverly timed shift. These fellows are slightly original themselves, you know, and a careful examination of their records with Rockne's might show you some things that would astonish you greatly, for all the fact that Rockne's name happens to be riding like the sun-god above the football scenery right now."

ROPER BEWAILING MATERIAL FAMINE

(Editor's Note: This is the third of a series of articles by Davis J. Walsh on some of the leading football teams of the east and middle west. Others will follow daily.)

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 21.—(I. N. S.)—It seems to have become something of an annual custom for Bill Roper to attempt to make a dinner jacket out of a pair of cuffs in his year-to-year dealings with the Princeton football squad. The thing, of course, is absurdly simple. Princeton gives Mr. Roper the pair of cuffs. Mr. Roper gives Princeton the dinner jacket, or tries to, which is a good trick whether he does it or not.

It is just one of those things they pull behind the back drop in vaudeville. Here you have nothing. There you have three piano legs and the fourth to come, a complete change of linen and last year's copy of the Steam Fitters' annual.

Some Times a Neat Fit.

Some times, Mr. Roper's garment is a nice piece of goods, indeed; smooth across the shoulders and form fitting to a fault. Some times, it fits the patients rather hurriedly, not to say quick.

This is no fraction of Mr. Roper's fault. He merely tries to make both ends meet, and, failing this, needs must leave them estranged. In brief, he lacks material.

He didn't have it in 1922, yet his so-called "team of destiny" established a reasonably sound claim to national honors. He didn't have it in 1923, nor yet in 1924. He hasn't got it now. For some obscure reason, Princeton has ceased to produce some real man power in football.

This year's team has eleven veterans in the squad. That sounds good until one takes the trouble to look over their callbre.

Analyzing the Material.

Captain McMillan was just an ordinary guard in 1924. Davis and Baldwin were his substitutes. Crago was a substitute in 1923. Bartell was a second-string center last year. Ewing a one-minute quarterback for dropkicking purposes. Caulkins was an alternate quarterback who got his letter in 1923. Dignan and Gilligan were first-string backs after others had run themselves flat-footed.

Two real football players in the outfit at the start of the campaign were Slagle, a good ball runner, punter and passer; and Gates, a fine, speedy tackle. McMillan since has developed into something of a guard.

All But Won From Navy.

Yet this motley collection was able to go to Baltimore last Saturday and have the Navy beaten until the closing moments of play, when a long run tied the score.

"You just can't figure Princeton," Roper said today as he watched his young men frolic. "When you think it is going to win, it loses. When you think it's going to lose, it wins. For this reason, I have hopes of getting away with something this year."

The offense, it seems, has been built about Slagle and Dignan; the defense featuring the quasi-veterans who ply between tackle and tackle. Gates appears to be well supported at the opposite tackle by Rosengarten, while Darby and French have done reasonably well, particularly the latter, on defense.

Son of Biffy Lee.

The ends, Moeser and Jeffers, have plenty to learn and have shown no great celerity about it. Frank Lee, son of the famous Biffy, is a wing candidate. So are Stout, Sharp and Rennard.

Kith, Blake and Mann are extra guards and Hobson and Bachelor are extra centers. But none of them is extra good.

Just the old cuffs all over again. Will Roper make a coat of it? Don't bet that he won't.

Last Night's Fights.

At Reading, Pa.—Emil Paluso, New York, received the referee's decision over Young Clancy, England, ten rounds; Alex Bader, Philadelphia, scored a technical knockout over Jack Firpo, Philadelphia, six rounds; Snakey Fisher, Reading, got decision over Joe Hatfield, Phoenixville, Pa., eight rounds.

Huskers and Jayhawks In Grid History

When Cornhuskers and Jayhawkers meet at the Nebraska Memorial stadium next Saturday afternoon, it will be thirty-second year in which the two teams have clashed on the gridiron.

The first Kansas-Nebraska game was played in 1892, the Jayhawers winning, 12 to 0. The two teams did not meet in 1904 and 1905.

Nebraska has won twenty of the thirty-one contests, Kansas winning nine games and tie scores resulting in 1920 and 1923. The record:

CURTIS-M'COOK TO DRAW CROWD

Thousands Due to Witness Important Southwest Nebraska Game.

CURTIS, Neb., Oct. 22.—A crowd of several thousand southwest Nebraska fans will be here Friday afternoon when McCook and the Curtis Aggies meet on the Aggie gridiron.

McCook will send over a delegation of three hundred rooters, headed by the McCook military band.

Neither team has been defeated this season, each goal line being uncrossed in the season's play. McCook high has a heavy aggregation this year with plenty of speed and has pointed for the Curtis Aggie contest. The Aggie eleven has eight veterans in the lineup, one of the main cogs in the Aggie machine being "Mike" Crawford, giant guard.

Officials for the game are Ralph Allen of Cozad, referee; Gregg McBride of Lincoln, umpire; F. E. Bowers of Arapahoe, headlinesman.

West Point Walks Over South Soo Hi

WEST POINT, Neb., Oct. 21.—West Point high turned in a 26 to 0 victory over South City City in football last Friday. West Point scored three touchdowns, two extra points and a pair of place kicks.

Krause, speedy captain of the West Pointers, featured the game with his plunging, end runs and punting.

LINCOLN SQUAD IN STIFF DRILL

Red and Black Gridders Have Gruelling Scrimmage In Preparing for Tech.

In preparation for the Tech contest next Saturday in Omaha, the Red and Black football squad was sent through the toughest scrimmage of the season Tuesday afternoon on the high school oval. Previous to Tuesday, Coach Browne had intended to merely put the team through limbering-up exercises and give a daily chalk talk, but after the talk was completed the scrimmage was decided upon.

The regulars went on the field, lined up against the second team and proceeded to bowl over the second-stringers and gain consistently, Witte and McBride repeatedly breaking through the secondary defense for long gains, while Raugh and Packer were equally successful on end runs.

Regulars vs. Subs.

To climax the workout, the regulars lined up against a team composed of the first-team substitutes, Stroh and McBride being taken out of the first-team lineup to work in the substitutes' backfield with Kitchen and Kimmel.

Neither team had much of an advantage, McBride making long gains for the substitutes and Witte doing the brunt of the work for the regulars. The backfield men of both sides were thrown for losses at various times, but on other occasions the backs shifted through the line or smashed off-tackle for good gains.

Lineup of Teams.

The teams lined up as follows:

| Regulars— | Pos. | —Subs |
|---|---|---|
| Fisher | le. | Hussey |
| Brown | lt. | Skold |
| Folger | lg. | Eaton |
| Bauer | c. | Townsend |
| Koster | rg | Austin |
| Tindall | rt. | Alvord |
| McCarthy | re. | Rosenberg |
| Witte | qb. | Stroh |
| Still | lh. | Kitchen |
| Packer | rh. | Kimmel |
| Raugh | fb. | McBride, Plock |

The Lincoln high school fourth football team outpointed the Havelock reserves, 32 to 0, in a practice game played Tuesday afternoon on the field north of the high school.

Swedish Slugger To Invade U. S. A.

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Harry Persson, heavyweight champion pugilist of Sweden, known as the "Slugging Stone Cutter," has announced that he will go to the United States early in 1926 to fight under the tutelage of Tex Rickard. He has never been knocked out.

Spanish Boxer Soming.

MADRID, Oct. 21.—(I. N. S.)—Paulino, Spanish heavyweight champion, who has one knockout victory over Phil Scott, former sensational British boxer, is America-bound in quest of a return bout with Scott, according to the newspaper La Nacion today. Paulino will sail for Manchester, England, to fight Scott in December and then board a ship for the United States.

Miss Helen Wainwright, one of America's swimming aces in the last Olympics, and now a professional, will serve as coach for women aquatic stars at Tampa, Fla.

Football Secrets.

BY SOL METZGER.

WHEN LINEMEN ON OFFENSE.

Linemen on offense should be careful to get the same legs forward when in a charging position. If they make the mistake of putting their forward legs together, as in the second illustration, a defensive player can easily seize two legs and thus block any play in that general direction by forcing the two linemen into it. Little points like this must be played right if a team is to succeed.

Coast Lines Up Grid Stars For Charity Clash

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Plans have been completed for an east-west football game to be played here December 26 for the benefit of the Shriners' crippled children hospital.

Jack Spalding, publicity director for the game, in making the announcement, said he had received word from Bill Ingram that the necessary men had been lined up. Ingram, a former football star and now coaching in Indiana, has been commissioned to get together a team composed of the greatest players in the east.

Grange and Stuhldreher.

When first announcement was made of the proposed contest a couple of weeks ago, Spalding said that efforts would be made to sign "Red" Grange, all-American back of Illinois; Garbisch, former Army star; Stuhldreher, famous quarterback of Notre Dame last year, and many others. The word from Ingram today did not give the list of players who would compose the eastern team. However, Spalding expressed belief that the Indiana coach had been successful in obtaining the services of the stars previously indicated.

Stars in Coast Section.

The team to represent the far west has not been named. It is expected that invitations will be extended to the following men: Ernie Nevers, Stanford; "Brick" Muller, end; Charley Erb, quarter, and "Babe" Horrell, center, all former California stars; "Red" Strader, St. Mary's college; Wilson and Tesreau, Washington; Jimmy Needles and Harry Shiekey, Olympic club.

WESLEYAN TEAM TO PLAY DAKOTA

Injury Jinx Hits Methodist Camp As Squad Makes Ready For Game.

A strenuous Tuesday practice with Coach Adam Durham in charge, started the Nebraska Desleyan squad on its way in preparing for the next game on the Yellow and Brown schedule—University of South Dakota at Vermillion. The Methodists, fresh from a victory over Midland college, find themselves up against one of the leading teams in the North Central conference.

Last year South Dakota university won over Wesleyan, 19 to 0. The Dakota Coyotes were set to file a strong bid for the North Central trophy this fall, but were repulsed last week when North Dakota U. booted a placekick from the 38-yard line to gain a 3-0 victory.

Jinx Pursues Methodists.

Wesleyan is still followed by the injury jinx which has been trailing the team for a period of two weeks. Moon is back with the cripples. Schultz is still on crutches, while Manchester and Roper are nursing minor injuries. Boell is also on the crippled list. Schultz and Moon will probably be kept out of the game Saturday.

Reports drifting into the Wesleyan camp from South Dakota indicate that the northerners expected to win by two or three touchdowns, Vermillion backers shouting the praises of Funston, a backfield runner rated as one of the best in the North Central conference. The Vermillion reserve strength is particularly strong, the squad including several track stars.

Goodwin Killed By Crash of Airplane

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 21.—(I. N. S.)—Marvin Goodwin, former pitcher and manager of the Houston Buffaloes and first lieutenant in the Thirty-sixth air division, died in a local hospital this morning the result of injuries received when an airplane he was flying at Ellington field Sunday crashed to earth in a tail spin. Goodwin was sold to the Cincinnati Reds last August.

Miss Glenna Collett of Providence, R. I., has won the women's national golf championship twice, her first conquest of the title coming in 1922, when she was but 19 years old.

Hudkins Doped to Defeat Ballerino

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 21.—(I. N. S.)—Ace Hudkins, sensational Nebraska lightweight, was a slight favorite in betting today to win his ten round bout here tonight with Mike Ballerino, world's junior lightweight champion.

Ballerino's title will not be involved as he will weigh 133 pounds and Hudkins 136. The bout will mark the champion's Pacific coast debut.

WILDCATS PLOT COTNER DEFEAT

Coach Dale's Wayne Eleven Out To Take Measure Of Bulldog Team.

WAYNE, Neb., Oct. 21.—Wayne Normal is out to win its second Nebraska conference victory of the season this week when the Wildcats meet Cotner college, next Friday on the Bethany gridiron. Coach Fred Dale's Wayne team got off to a winning start by taking a 7-0 victory off Midland but lost to Chadron last week, 29-7.

Brilliant broken-field runs of McKelvey and Garvin featured the hadron victory at Wayne last Saturday. Two bad passes from center and a blocked punt recovered by a Chadronite in the end zone gave Chadron a ten-point lead at the end of the first quarter.

Threatened Eagles' Goal.

Wayne looked the better team during the second quarter when the Wildcats, holding the backfield in check with a polished passing threat, tore through the Chadron line for six first downs and constantly threatened the Eagle goal.

Chadron, having made only one first down during the first half, took the offensive in the third quarter and followed a long gain by McKelvey drove over for a touchdown. McKelvie broke loose for another long run and Garvin carried it across.

Passed to Touchdown.

Wayne's next march carried the Wildcats to the 8-yard line. A penalty set Wayne back 15 yards, but Rennick forward passed to Reed for a score. Garvin ran back Rennick's punt 35 yards for the final Chadron touchdown.

Wayne held the edge in first downs and yardage gained in scrimmage, a green line handicapping the veteran Wayne backs.

James Hume, section hand on a railroad in Kansas, is an expert golf player. He attributes his adeptness on the links to skill gained with pick and shovel.

Briefly Told News From The Wires

HAVANA — Billy Murphy, an American boxer who is being detailed on the government ship Gomez in Havana harbor pending deportation, displayed his professional wares to several guards last Saturday. The report is that Murphy refused to perform a minor duty assigned him and sailed into the guards with hooks, jolts and swings. The boxed won the decision and received as a prize a set of chains and a straight-jacket.

WASHINGTON — The American people generally are demanding more and more money and the circulation of currency in the United States now has reached the highest point for any peace time period in history. Figures made public Tuesday by the treasury showed the circulation on October 1 was $4 827,005,344, an amount exceeded only on November 1, 1920, when post-war conditions sent it to $5,628,427,732.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood attack the eat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. # Market Quotations

GRAIN MARKETS.

Chicago Grain.
By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 21.

Wheat prices weakened in the late dealings today and declined about three cents from the day's top figures. Selling on the part of houses with Northwest connections had a depressing effect. Closing prices on wheat were heavy, ¾ to 1⅝c net lower, new style, December $1.44¾@1.44¾, and May $1.42⅛@1.42¼.

WHEAT—With traders giving special attention to a report quoting the secretary of agriculture as saying it seems probable the market has already discounted all bearish factors in the wheat situation this year, wheat values took an early swing upward today. An unexpected advance in prices at Liverpool tended further to strengthen the market here. Besides, estimates were current which increased by 58,400,000 bushels, the probable import requirements of Europe. Chicago opening prices, ¾@1⅛c higher, new style December $1.46⅛@1.47 and May $1.43⅞@1.43⅝, were followed by moderate further gains. December touching $1.47⅜ and May $1.44.

Subsequently, the market underwent a decided setback. Advices at hand indicated that threshing was considerable in Canada and there was considerable notice taken of the heavy increase in wheat acreage of the chief exporting countries.

CORN—upheld by strength of wheat. After opening unchanged to ⅛c higher December 72⅜c, the corn market scored a slight general advance, but then reacted to about the same as yesterday's finish.

Later the market weakened with wheat. On the decline May corn reached a new low price record for the season. Receipts of new corn are gradually enlarging. Corn losed unsettled, ½ to ¾c net lower, December 74⅛@74⅜c.

OATS—Upheld by the strength of wheat. Started a shade decline to ⅛c gain, December 39½@39⅝c, and held near to initial figures.

PROVISIONS—Were without material change.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.

Stock prices moved up sharply again today with buying embracing a wide variety of oil, rail, food, rubber, mercantile and equipment shares. With the technical position of the market apparently strengthened by the elimination of many weak accounts in the recent violent reactions, operators for the rise experienced little difficulty in pushing their favorites and in attracting a large public following. They were aided by a further reduction in call money rates, publication of additional favorable earnings reports by oil companies, reports of steady improvement in the steel trade and the usual crop of merger and dividend rumors. Rails continued to creep forward with new leaders being brought forward whenever recent favorites fell back on profit taking.

Stock prices continued the push forward vigorously as the opening of today's market with the execution of large buying orders which had accumulated over night. Southern Railway and Baltimore & Ohio headed a list of new records in the railroad group, while initial gains of 1 to 3 points among industrials included General Electric, Pan-American B. Marland Oil, Sears Roebuck, American Waterworks and Chrysler.

With speculative confidence restored by the absence of wild gyrations in the motor shares, buying was quetly resumed in many sections of the list on the basis of favorable business developments. These included further curtailment of oil output, continued heavy freight traffic together with higher railway earnings and prospective maintenance of easy money rates as a result of heavy importations of gold. High priced shares were advanced rapidly. Rail and oil issues, however, were the real centers of trading interest with advances of 1 to 2 points embracing Union Pacific, New York Central, Southern Railway, Norfolk & Western, Marland and Pacific Oils, General Asphalt and Atlantic Refining. Foreign exchanges were easy, although sterling was unchanged at $4.83 15-16.

Buying orders flowed into the market in such volume that a score of stocks were soon whirled up to new high prices of the year. Among them were shares representing such widely diversified interests as American Tobacco B, Columbia Gas & Electric, Marland Oil at 55, Cerro De Pasco at 60, Cushman at 104, and Paige Detroit at 29. Call money renewed at 4½ per cent, unchanged from yesterday's figures.

The closing was firm. Buoyancy of the mercantile issues was the outstanding feature of the late dealings. Mercory stores B soared 14 points and May Department stores, Kinney, Sears Roebuck and Woolworth moved up 3 to 4 points. New York Central and Western Pacific led the rails into new high ground. A sudden wave of selling, however, forced recessions in General Motors, Mack and American Can. Sales approximated $2,400,000 shares.

LIVESTOCK MARKETS.

Omaha Livestock.
OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 21.
By the Associated Press.

CATTLE—Receipts, 12,000; Wednesday's liberal run of cattle brought further depression in the market, and prices for both beef steers and cows ranged steady from 10@15c lower than Tuesday. Corn feds were more plentiful than on Tuesday, but offerings included nothing at all choice and few that could be called good. Stockers and feeders met with a rather broad demand and prices were firmly held for anything at all desirable in this line.

Closing: Fed steers and yearlings slow, weak to 25c lower; mostly 10@15c lower; bulk of all sales $9.50@11.50; several loads held higher; grass steers steady to weak; bulls, $7.00@8.00; two loads of Wyomings $9.50; she stock weak to 15c lower; bulls and veals steady to strong; stockers and feeders slow, heifers mostly $5.25@6.25; canners and cutters $2.00@3.50; bologna bulls, $3.75@4.25; practical veal top $11.50; stockers and feeders $6.25@7.75.

HOGS—Receipts 7,000. Rather indifferent reports from outside and a moderate Wednesday run resulted in prices breaking a trifle this morning. Best light and medium weight butchers sold on a 10c lower basis with packing grades in some cases, off more. Top was $11.40 with bulk of sales, $9.60@11.25.

Closing—Weak to 10c lower; mixed and packing grades showing most decline; good and choice 140 to 300 pound weight $11.10@11.40; rough and heavy packing sows $9.50@9.65; smooth up to $9.90, bulk of all sales $9.65@11.25; average cost Tuesday $10.65; weight 261.

Jefferson County Man Is Severely Hurt By Machine

(Special to The Star.)

FAIRBURY, Neb., Oct. 21.—Fred Humfeldt, a young farmer living at Rose Creek, four miles south of Fairbury, was perhaps fatally injured while operating a wood saw on Maple street here.

His left leg is badly splintered, and may have to be amputated. His left arm is broken and his head badly bruised. With his foot he was adjusting the belt which had slipped, when he was caught and thrown over the flywheel, two or three times.

He has a wife and two small children. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Humfeldt of Fairbury.

Stock Shippers at Dickens Complain

A petition signed by three dozen live stock shippers at Dickens sent into the state railway commission, asks that the Burlington railroad be required to furnish better yardage and loading facilities there. They say that there are only 4 pens now, wheras there are times when 5 to 15 carloads of cattle are to be shipped at the same time and some of them have to be held out on the prairie until late at night.

Engines taking on coal nearby often frighten the animals at night causing them to break down the fences and escape, the stockmen assert. They also say that the yards are frequently in very muddy conditions. They ask to have the yards moved 300 feet to the east and 4 more pen provided. L. R. Seiler sent the petition in.

GIVEN $10 FINE

George Leahy, 17, of Peru, Neb., was fined $10 and costs in municipal court Wednesday morning on a charge of driving an automobile with brakes not properly adjusted.

Leahy's Ford roadster struck Nelson J. Brown, 81, at Tenth and S streets, Tuesday at 3:30 p. m. The accident had no connection with the brakes charge which was filed after the brakes were tested when the car was left at police headquarters. According to the account of the accident given to police, Leahy's car had been stopped and was backing up to avoid a street car when Mr. Brown, who was behind the automobile, was struck. Mr. Brown lives at 712 North Sixteenth street.

CHICAGO — F. Edson White, president of Armour & Co., believes that American industry within the next two decades will face the most severe competition it ever has experienced. He expressed this opinion yesterday before the Institute of American Meat Packers, which is holding its twentieth annual convention.

NEW TAX CUT IDEAS OFFERED

committee and differing materially from that of the previous day, when the committee heard Secretary Mellon and other treasury officials.

Foresee Little Support.

The committee then did not get the inipression that the treasury was proposing a repeal of the earned income provision, and some of its mebers after a hasty review of the schedule submitted yesterday said they foresaw little support for its repeal in congress.

Some schedules upon which the treasury bases its estimate of a $140,000,000 cut in the income tax revenue, would start the normal tax at 1 per cent on the first $3,000, with 3 per cent applying on the next $4,000 and 5 per cent on all over $7,000. The schedule also sets out proposed new surtax brackets, starting at 1 per cent on income of $13,000 to $15,000 and reaching a maximum of 20 per cent on all over $10,000.

Representatives of the following organizations were listed for appearance before the committee today: American Mining congress, Municipal Employes of Tacoma; National Foreign Trade council, United States League of Local Building and Loan associations, Stock Exchange, American Medical association, American Bankers' association and the Council of Traveling Salesmen's associations.

Many Recommendations.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(I. N. S.)—A host of witnesses besieged the house ways and means committee today and made numerous recommendations for changes in the taxation system.

A plea that Americans engaged in foreign trade be exempted from income taxes was made by O. K. Davis of New York, representing the Foreign Trade council.

"Other nations exempt their citizens abroad from such taxes," Davis said.

The committee was asked to straighten out the tangle that exists as to whether salaries of municipal employes should be taxed by Rep. Albert Johnson, republican of Washington, and E. C. Little, superintendent of the waterworks at Rochester, N. Y.

Some collectors have held them exempt and some non-exempt, the committee was told. Chairman Green said relief should be afforded these employes under the Supreme court decision holding salaries of judges and other state officers exempt from tax, which prompted the observation of Representative Garner of Texas that he could see no reason why such salaries should not be taxed.

Frank W. Kreigh, representing the American Mining congress, asked the committee to eliminate retroactive taxes on corporation transfers in transfers taking place as of December 1, 1917, holding that such taxes were "unjust" to stockholders who later acquired their stock.

An Exposition of Opportunity

This A-B-C Classified Section is just like a county fair—or an automobile show—or an industrial exhibition—only it's Opportunity in its various phases which is being exhibited.

And there is another difference, come to think of it. It costs you good money to see an ordinary exposition—but here the admission is free of charge.

You can't beat the Opportunity Exposition—you can't beat it wherever you go—because opportunity is the most vital thing that enters into your life.

It isn't that this exposition is entertaining—and nothing more. That's all right in its way, but it doesn't amount to very much beside the actual pecuniary benefits you derive from regular attendance.

Read the A-B-C ads daily—and see if all this isn't so.

CHAPTER II.

There are still places within an eighty-mile radius of London where the hand of progress has not left its dirty thumb marks in the form of factories, with their attendant squalor and cheap movie shows. To find them it is necessary to turn off the motor roads and adventure more sedately, in a manner becoming the approach of Arcady.

What inhabitants there are will stare with the frank all-seeing stare of babies and yokels, and presently, if you are lucky, you may bump your way into some old-world village with its inn and its apothecary; the one, before whose door creaks a faded sign, perhaps of a Duke's head and a coat of arms, the other, whose windows contain the Gargantuan flagons of red and green fluid that might have been the elixir of youth. Sometimes there is a village green where ducks move in solemn procession and ancient horses crop such herbage as has escaped the hobnails of the children. Generally, behind a mellow red wall, may be glimpsed the upper stories of the Square's house half hidden by giant yews, planted when gentlemen in white wigs and knee breetches strutted it before their patched and powdered ladies.

Even now the atmosphere of "benevolent" feudalism has not departed. The rustics touch their caps, the women bob, and families of six are reared on a few shillings a week, regardless of the overthrow of empires and the rearrangement of the map.

Such was Brimble, strung out along the ledge half way up the great hill where the ancient Druids had carved a mighty cross into the chalky face of the earth. Few outsiders ever found their way there—a fisherman, perhaps, to whom some fellow angler had confided the promise of the stream, or an artist happening upon it delightedly in the course of a sketching tour.

That was how Jim Hawthorne had discovered it twenty years ago. To him then the cottage was like dreams come true. In place of the three-roomed, exorbitantly priced apartment in a dingy London street, where he toiled at black-and-white drawings for the magazines while his wife gave tragic music lessons for a farcical reward, here was a fairy spot of color and peace, where blew the great winds of health and freedom and ambition. It fired him to stake the future and his faith in himself against their senseless bread-and-butter routine.

He telegraphed to Nan, his wife, and met her at the diminutive railway station six miles below, led her wondering through the fields of corn and stood her at last on the brick walk outside the cottage door.

She was silent, ecstatic at the outstretching patchwork quilt of country beneath her. Then they stroked the old oak beams that held up the ceiling pictured wonderful evenings by the enormous open fire, clambered up the rickety staircase to the sloping roofed bedrooms close beneath the thatch and sniffed the honey-suckle that peeped in upon them. At last they stood still, their faces alight.

"This is home, Jim!' she whispered. "Brimble! Why, the name's a poem, of bumblebees—and babies;!"

He took his arm from around her shoulders. "Come along then! We'll go and take the 'For Sale' board down."

"Can we?—Dare we? We haven't—"

"We're young and we've got each other. We can buy it, Nan, for a hundred and fifty! What do you say? Shall we risk it?"

"It's our chance!" she answered.

Hand in hand, like two excited children, they ran down the lane to grab their happiness.

II

The front door opened in a large, red tiled, uneven floored room. The old beams were oiled. A copper hood, dark and gleaming, lured you to the fireplace. There were pewters and old brass candlesticks on the mantlepiece above it. Copper bed-warmers hung down on either side. China treasures sat on the high shelf that made a dado around the room. A grandfather clock ticked solemnly in the corner. The carved panels of an old oak pulpit, picked up in a rambled bric-a-brac shop in Brittany, stood out at right angles to the fire, forming, as it were, a room within a room, a cosy corner. Against them squatted a low couch whose gay chintz was the same as that which hung at the windows. These had small, square, leaded panes wthere they had been built out in a great bay, three-sided. The broad cushioned window seat inclosed the dining table, on which a silver bowl was always kept filled with flowers.

The workshop opened out of this, so called because there Jim kept his painting materials. There too was the small grand piano where Nan drew them into the world of melody when candles were lit and Jim full stretch upon the sofa, watched her as she played and sang. Around the walls were landscapes in oils, a tribute to his dreams of color.

Upstairs were a bulging library, a bathroom with hot and cold water—there was only one other in the whole of Brimble—and two bedrooms with gems of dressing tables and mirrors for which the auction rooms of London had been ransacked.

What savings and computations had gone to the purchase of each treasure! Every pewter and candlestick had its story of mutual triumph when at last the piano bought with the sweat of a hundred drawings, was opened, and the first exultant chords resounded through the cottage! The bathroom was a milestone in Jim's career, an answer to faith, the result of the Bond Street exhibition and sale of his first twenty landscapes, an epoch!

And while this brief idyll was being played, neither he nor she had time to realize that where there is a beginning there must also be an end.

III

A poem of bumblebees—and babies!

When ends barely meet it is difficult to make such a poem rhyme. They had not dared in London. At Brimble, however, the note of oppression, of threat even, that lies in the rumble of the city, yielded to the slow rhymthm of the country. There was such composure in tre succeeding seasons, such acceptance in the changing tasks of farmers. It seemed that life breathed, unhurried, with the confidence of a sleeper. Confidence, that was the keynote of it all! It was like a constant invitation to atune one's mind to its steady pace, to relax from the frenzy of ambition, to absorb quiesence of pulse, to grow broader and deeper in the certainty that the answer lies in being rather than in straining to be.

The little partition of her mind in which she had locked away her dream of children opened wide as the beatitude of Brimble permeated her, body and soul. At first Nan had been like a bird released from a six-inch cage of osiers on a nail in a back alley—almost frightened at the space around her, fearful of beating her wings with full vigor. There might be still a bar somewhere upon which to bruise them.

With realization, however, came intoxication. She drank happiness, in great gulps.

In the hospital down the hill rain was beating upon the windows when they set downstairs to tell Jim to come up quickly.

Words came to him through a fog. Time stood still. Something incoherent that was meant for a prayer came soundlessly to his lips. There were people,murmurs, movements, smells, getting in between him and Nan—There was more, death.

When Jim stood up, the world had crashed in ruins about his feet.

Some one was saying, "Steady, old man, steady!"

He brushed off the arm that supported him. "Christ!" he whispered. "Jesus—Christ!" Unconsciously he passed a hand across his mouth.

A nurse came forward with the baby.

Jim turned and went out of that house in the rain. So, one June day, the child was born.

IV

It was as though more than half of Jim Hawthorne were lopped off and placed in that graveyard down the hill, leaving him empty and desolate, a meaningless husk, without desire, almost without thought.

To the violent oscillations of the needle of his mind seeking, in spite of itself, a new magnetic north, seeking some one stable truth to which to cling, was added the intolerable burden of loneliness. Nan had been more to him than he knew in the days of struggle in London when the next meal for them both had frequently remained a problem to which they had no immediate solution. How greatly he had drawn upon her courage only came home to him now that there was no longer that alter ego whom man's nature demands—at whom to grumble and complain, to whom to turn for help, sympathy and spiritual comfort, on whom to lavish all the manliness and gentleness, the strength and weakness, the bigness and the littleness that are his.

Like a haunted thing he roamed the woods, unseeing, a, a strident discord. The cottage was full of shadows. The piano was closed. Pictures and pewters were mere daubs and pieces of metal. None of their treasures spoke to him with any meaning. That which had given them personality, meaning—the mutual faith and idealism of man and wife striving towards the same goal—was swept away like a thing of no worth, since their goal had been founded on fallacy. It was the debacle.

He prayed for death and death refused him, thrust him back to an unrelenting conviction of utter worthlessness of life.

Leaving Mrs. Weeks to make what arrangements she pleased for the infant, Jim went to France, seeking in movement the repose that Brimble no longer held.

He walked through Brittany and headed southeast. After many days Providence spread her endless white ribbons of road before him and he left them behind. At Marseilles his lean figures might have been seen in the bow of an old freight boat that was about to nose her way to Algiers. Weeks of wandering elapsed before he fetched up in Cairo, brown as any Arab, silent as the Sphinx, but with his problem unanswered.

As though from some immense pinnacle of isolation he looked down upon the conglomeration of more or less interrelated groups of polyglot peoples and saw each endeavoring to outdo and outboast the other, like small boys shouting through a dark wood to show that they are not afraid; each pursuing a petty self-interest under cover of grandiloquent professions of universal brotherhood; each stumbling around the vicious circle of behavior, economic, political, social and religious, like blindfolded camels turning endlessly around an Egyptian water wheel, convinced that they were progressing to endless lengths, while in reality they trod and retrod the limited circumference.

From the standpoint of evolution and its infinite aeons the world seemed to him as insignificant as a piece of meat buried beneath a myriad maggots, squirming and shifting in mere indeterminate motion. There was no guiding force, no outstanding brain to give its order and cohesion, to point out an objective, to focus the wasted energy.

God, the creator of all? "God is just a term," said Jim Hawthorne, "by which mankind is in the habit of summing up any manifestation beyond the feeble limits of its amoeba-like intelligence."

Life hereafter the reason of it all? Jim Hawthorne said, "I don't know." Angrily he sneered at the hysterical eagerness with which the crowd clutched some comfort, some reassurance, however slight, in their vain conjectures on the unpleasant but inevitable end.

Then he laughed, without humor. "I'm one of the maggots, and what brain I've got isn't big enough to find the answer. All I know is that I'm here and likely to be here for some time because of the instinct of self-preservation which won't let me snuff myself out without a struggle. I suppose I've got to do something, otherwise time will seem so damned long!"

He went back to Brimble. Time was long. A year that was just a blank elapsed before in sel?defiance he reached out to his art, because it was the only thing that he knew.

"The salve of habit!" he mocked and was duly amused to find that his pictures began to be talked about.

"I know they're good,' he said, "but what the hell do they buy 'em for? They don't know the difference between a Titian and an oleograph till some tuppenny-ha'penny critic points it out to 'em, and then they believe it because it's so much easier to pick up a ready-made opinion than to form one."

It was not until the child was nearly eight years old that one day she thrust herself upon his consciousness. He saw that she had beauty and, what was more important, personality. She stimulated his curiosity. He watched her as though she were a living specimen upon the slide of a microscope. He saw her gradually unfold like a rosebud. He began to resent not only Mrs. Weeks' authority, but the instinctive way in which the child looked to her for reassurance if her small world went wrong.

From that moment Jim Hawthorne was no longer alone with his crippled ego and the success that meant nothing to him.

"Here's my job!" he said. "Every man plays his hand to the limits of the boundary prescribed by his fear of what society will say or do. This kid shall not be afraid of traditional beliefs or rules of conduct. I'll teach her to stand on her own two feet, to answer to herself alone. She shall be honest."

And Nancy was now eighteen.

MINNEAPOLIS — A claim for $100 a week for two weeks as his earnings was included in a suit for damage filed in District court here by William A. Gibson, crippled dispenser of pencils and toy balloons. Gibson asked $5,306.10 from W. C. J. Hermann of Minneapolis, charging that Hermann's automobily threw another man into Gibson's wheel chair, demolishing it and injuring himself.

BETTERMENT OF RIVER DEMANDED

Improvement Of Missouri As Quickly As Possible To Be Asked of Congress.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—A demand on congress to make provision for improvement of the Missouri river as quickly as possible, and the formation of an alliance of seven midwest states to fight for the project climaxed the Missouri river navigation conference here yesterday.

In a resolution adopted by the conference, including nearly a thousand delegates from Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota and Colorado, congress was urged to make a lump sum appropriation for completion of all approved inland waterways and especially the improvement of the Missouri as far north as South Dakota.

The Missouri River Navigation association, of which A. J. Waver of Falls City, Neb., was elected president, was formed to carry on the fight for the completion of waterways.

Funds to carry on the campaign will be raised by the sale of membership in the association.

Briefly Told News From The Wires

BRUSSELS — Finance Minister Janssen Tuesday told an Associated Press correspondent 'I am convinced that the Belgian parliament will ratify the settlement of our debt to America, signed at Washington, the advantages of which already are evident in the improvement of our franc in international exchange."

DES MOINES, Ia.—Because Mrs Dunkan McMartin's household budget has no allowance for the payment of fines she must spend two days in the city jail, for passing a school sign in an automobile. When Judge Herman F. Zuch told Mrs. McMartin that her fine would be $5 said that she couldn't pay it "because I am on the budget system."

SEATTLE, Wash.—A reserve of 1,200 acres at White mountain, eighty miles from Nome, Alaska, has been created by President Coolidge for a modern industrial school for northern Alaskan Eskimos and Indian, the Seattle branch of the United States bureau of education announced Tuesday. The reservation is to be equipped with schools and shops. It will be one of three industrial institutions in Alaska.

The winner's name is engraved on the cup each time.

The high school band played for the Pathfinders club Wednesday noon. After a short program the boys were guests of the club at lunch. They sang several high school songs.

DEATH TAKES MRS. BAXTER.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Mrs. Frances Amourette Baxter, 78, a resident of Santa Barbara since 1887 and founder of the woman's club here, died yesterday. Mrs. Baxter was a lineal descendant of Gov. William Bradford of Massachusetts. Her father was Joseph Farnsworth and her mother Frances Finney of Oberlin, O., her husband, A. Sidney-Baxter, who has been dead several years, was an aide in the Civil war on the staff of General U. S. Grant. After the war the Baxters resided in New York City, where they were both prominent.

EXPECT TWO HONEY CROPS.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 21.—(AP)—John Ballantyne, apiarist of Nelson, B. C., is shipping today on the liner Niagara thirty pounds of bees and ten queens to Auckland, New Zealand, where summer is just beginning, in an effort to make the insects produce two crops of honey. If the experiment is successful it is planned to ship colonies of bees from one end of the Pacific to the other every year.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

"No girl or woman should 'purge' and 'physic' herself every few days. This is very injurious. Besides, it isn't necessary."

—DR. CALDWELL

Tells Girls and Women to Avoid "Physics"

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many women had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all headaches, biliousness, sallow skin, indigestion and stomach misery, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" every day or two was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which regulates the bowels. A single dose will establish natural, healthy bowel movement for weeks at a time, even for those chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it is often months before another dose is necessary. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself.

Common Household Medicines

Otherwise known as "samples" have for centuries been derived from medicinal roots and herbs. They are still used and recognized by many of our best physicians as unequalled for certain ailments. In many countries roots and herbs are cultivated purely for commercial purposes. It is said that the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., of Lynn, Mass., is the greatest user of crude herbs in this country. The success of their Vegetable Compound for ailments of women is now world-wide, and it will certainly pay any woman who suffers from any ailment peculiar to her sex to try it.—Advertisement.

Keep Pimples away

WHY do you let those unsightly pimples, blackheads and blotches disfigure your skin and ruin your appearance? You can keep them away if you keep your system full of rich, red blood. And not only that, but the very texture of your skin will be soft and velvet like—and the coloring radiant as a rose.

It's all in the blood. And S. S. S. will help Nature keep your blood rich and red and pure.

Yes, you can keep pimples away, simply by taking S. S. S. That's a fact. The kind of red-blood-cells that S. S. S. helps Nature build makes your skin beautiful—clears it up just like it puts firm flesh on you—brings strength to weak, flabby muscles—gives you an appetite like you used to have—and generates the energy and vitality of youth throughout your entire system.

S.S.S.

Just try it and see for yourself! All druggists sell S. S. S.. Get the larger bottle. It's more economical.

Better Than Calomel

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Are a Harmless Substitute.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "logy" and "heavy." Their "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.—Advertisement.
